

Uneasy Peace As New Year Is Welcomed

Arrival Hailed by Peoples in Virtually
All Parts of World

By the Associated Press
Fears of world catastrophe temporarily shelved, men the world over found varied ways to greet the new year today. A general spirit of revelry prevailed.

A somber note was sounded in many quarters, though, which served to remind mankind that the world is in uneasy peace.

As usual, many welcomed the new year with raised glasses; others marked it with holy hour devotions and watch night services.

At Colorado Springs, Colo., 23, hardy men, members of the unique AdAmAn club, scaled Pikes peak and ignited a brilliant fireworks display in a traditional greeting.

At Vatican City, as fireworks exploded and a band played, Pope Pius XII last night gave his blessing to thousands gathered in St. Peter's square to celebrate New Year's eve.

Rome street car workers, street cleaners and other municipal employes had marched to the square in a torchlight parade after earlier church services elsewhere.

Old Celebration
At Cherryville, N.C., a small industrial town in the Piedmont area, 85-year-old Uncle Sidney Beam raised his strong voice promptly at 12:01 a.m. and shouted into the night: "Good morning to you, sir."

Behind him 35 shooters wielding ancient muskets fired a shattering volley into the air. Thus did the town continue its custom more than 150 years old of "crying in" the year.

In New York City's Times square, the traditional magnet for reveling crowds, New Yorkers and visitors greeted 1958 in their usual spirited fashion. A police estimate of 350,000 celebrants was below that of former years.

Austerity in France
The president welcomed the new year at a small dinner party at his Gettysburg, Pa., farm.

In a New Year's statement, his defeated Democratic opponent in 1952 and 1956, Adlai E. Stevenson, said:

"There is a race of arms in which we must again draw abreast." He added, however, "This has now become a race that no one... can ever win."

French Premier Felix Gail-ler spoke after he and Premier Khrushchev and Khrushchev's toast was to President Eisenhower and told diplomats at a Kremlin New Year's reception early today that an agreement between the United States and Russia would solve most of the world's problems.

Democrat Wins Congress Race
Chicago — P — Roland V. Libonati, Democratic state representative, was elected to Congress from the Seventh Illinois district yesterday by a vote of the world's problems would be approximately 8 to 1 over his opponent.

Happy New Year, It's Getting Colder
Wisconsin — Considerable cloudiness and cold today with chance of some snow flurries but also some periods of sunshine. Partly cloudy and cold tonight and Thursday.

High today 6 to 12 north. 12 south, low tonight ranging from 15 below northwest to near 5 above extreme south-east.

Appleton temperatures during the 24-hour period ending at 9 o'clock this morning: High 9; low 14. Temperature at 1 o'clock this morning 9 degrees; at 9:35, 6 degrees. New snowfall, 4 inches; total snow on ground 6 inches. Precipitation .11 of an inch. Weather map on page 14.

Sun sets tonight at 4:25, rises Thursday morning at 7:29; moon sets Thursday morning at 4:09.

Khrushchev Says Reds, U. S. Could End Tensions

Russian Leaders Express Hopes for Lasting Peace in New Year Greetings

BY HAROLD K. MILKS

Moscow — P — Nikita Khrushchev raised his glass in a toast to President Eisenhower and told diplomats at a Kremlin New Year's reception early today that an agreement between the United States and Russia would solve most of the world's problems.

The Soviet communist party leader spoke after he and Premier Khrushchev and Khrushchev's toast was to President Eisenhower and told diplomats at a Kremlin New Year's reception early today that an agreement between the United States and Russia would solve most of the world's problems.

Also in Paris, C. F. Powell, state and government chiefs president of the World Federation of Scientists and the Nobel prize winner in physics, called Llewellyn Thompson by name on his colleagues to supply Khrushchev told the huge banquet research data for peaceful purposes only.

Drinks Toast to Ike
"I hope you other chiefs of missions will not misunderstand us," diplomats quoted him as saying. "But we are realistic. If the Soviet Union and the United States can get together and reach agreement most of the world's problems would be solved."

Khrushchev's toast appeared to be another plug for the current Soviet campaign for 2-par-ty negotiations at a high level between Washington and Moscow. At the recent NATO summit meeting, some members of the Atlantic alliance, also said they favored such talks.

The United States has shown no eagerness to be drawn into such negotiations—which might prevent innumerable opportunities to create misunderstand-

Says Birthday 3 Years After Battle of Alamo
Sacramento, Calif. — P — If Mrs. Ardie Nixon's memory is correct she was born three years after the battle of the Alamo and will be 119 years old today.

Mrs. Nixon, of Choctaw Indian and Puerto Rican ancestry, said she was born Jan. 1, 1839, near his towing truck on Highway 13 north of Beloit when he was struck by another car.

State traffic accidents on New Year's day in 1957 took a toll of 13 deaths. The death of a Washington woman Friday brought Wisconsin's 1957 toll to 913, compared with 953 in 1956.

Mrs. Ellene Leavines, 33, of Tacoma, Wash., was killed late Friday afternoon in a 2-car crash on Highway 12 near Baraboo.

Her grandniece, Mrs. Car-ol Tacoma, Wash., was killed late Friday afternoon in a 2-car crash on Highway 12 near Baraboo.

Six European Nations Start On Unity Road

Link Economies
And Development
Of Nuclear Power

Paris — P — Six western European nations set out today along a road of unity in their economies and nuclear power development that might lead to closer political ties.

A treaty binding France, West Germany, Italy, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg into a common market went into effect with the tooting of horns to begin 1958.

Another already signed treaty took effect last midnight to unite the six in joint development of nuclear energy for industrial purposes.

The two supranational groups, commonly known as Euromart and Euratom, join the first major experiment in western European unity, the pooling five years ago of coal and steel industries in the same six nations.

Closer Ties Forecast
Where it all will lead is still a question. Some leaders like the French sparkplugs for the coal-steel pool, Robert Schuman and Jean Monnet, are looking toward closer political ties of the 170 million Europeans in the six nations.

The treaties won approval because parliaments of the nations felt only by combining their efforts could they improve their economic standing in a world of two giant powers.

Some leaders feel that political combination is an answer for western Europe's decline in world importance.

At the end of a 12 or 13 year transitional period, the six nations plan to have a joint uniform tariff on imports from other countries but no tariff or other customs barriers between themselves. These changes will not begin until one year from now when all existing "internal" tariffs must be reduced 10 per cent.

During 1958, a year of preparation, no new economic barriers can be erected among the six. Their foreign ministers will meet in Paris next Monday to set up executive panels to administer both Euromart, and Euratom and to select a headquarters city.

Communist Leaders Arrested in Iraq
Baghdad, Iraq — P — Iraqi newspapers said today security forces arrested three members of the central committee of the outlawed communist party.

One of those arrested, Lawyer Abdul Rahim Sharif, was described as one of the leading communists wanted by Iraqi police.

Terms 1958 'Year of Promise' for Defense

A Completely Automatic Facsimile machine called Photofax today began receiving pictures from all over the world in the newsroom of the Appleton Post-Crescent. Photofax replaces the wirephoto machine which has been bringing world-wide picture coverage to Post-Crescent readers since February, 1951. Photofax will enable editors to bring the latest pictures to readers faster and will give the editors a wider selection. Watching a wirephoto, picturing President Eisenhower and Budget Director Percival Brundage, appear automatically on sensitized paper are Victor W. Zierke, Post-Crescent wire editor, and E. L. Biselex, news and picture editor. (Post-Crescent Photo)

New Wirephoto Development Brings Post-Crescent Pictures

Photofax, All Automatic Facsimile
Unit, Gives Editors Wider Selection

The Appleton Post-Crescent now is receiving pictures from all over the world via photo electric impulses on a completely automatic facsimile machine called Photofax.

The new machine, the latest development in the transmission of pictures by the Associated Press, replaces wirephoto which the Post-Crescent gave its readers in February, 1951.

The Post-Crescent and the Green Bay Press-Gazette were the first newspapers in Wisconsin outside of Milwaukee to have wirephoto and they were the first of the smaller cities of the nation to be hooked directly to the Associated Press national network.

More Pictures
Use of Photofax is another move by the Post-Crescent to provide its readers with the best in news and picture coverage at local, state and world-wide levels.

Photofax will provide editors with a much wider selection of pictures than wirephoto, probably three to four times as many daily, up to a total of 60. This wider selection will insure the reader of better pictures than heretofore.

Use of the new machine will be differences. Before the senate subcommittee, defense officials were questioned with full publicity about reported lags in the U.S. Rabi is a Nobel prize winner in physics and about personal performance and service rivalries in this field.

The house inquiry, by contrast, will be conducted behind closed doors, and will cover considerably more ground. Vinson said daily summaries of the development will be made public.

Declares Leaders Do Not Realize Peril in Weapons
New York — P — Our national existence is threatened by modern scientific weapons but the facts about modern warfare have "just not penetrated" the heads of government, says Dr. Isidor I. Rabi.

Rabi is a Nobel prize winner in physics and about personal performance and service rivalries in this field.

Quarles Says Plans to be Realities

Washington — P — Deputy Secretary of Defense Donald Quarles said today that the results of past weapons research will begin to show in the nation's defenses in 1958.

In a New Year's statement, Quarles said "1958 is a year of promise" and added:

"Many research projects and plans of previous years are becoming realities and will begin to contribute importantly to our national defense posture in the year ahead. In modernizing and streamlining our armed forces we are adding to our arsenal a number of important new weapons, such as the intermediate range ballistic missiles."

Pentagon officials have said they expect production of IRBMs to begin late this year. Quarles said that Russia's Sputniks and ballistic weapons "pose a challenge that may be a blessing in disguise," adding:

Confident of Future
"It is the profound hope and aim of all of the nation's responsible leaders," Quarles said, "that nothing will be permitted to obscure the defense requirements of the nation or to hamper our efforts to meet these requirements."

In the meantime, he said, "all America should look ahead to the coming year with determination and confidence."

In other year-end statements, Sen. Bridges (R-Vt.) and Sen. Mansfield (D-Mont.) agreed that 1958 will require important bipartisan decisions which Bridges said "must provide for the survival of this nation at all costs."

Mansfield, acting senate Democratic leader, said members of both parties in congress must place "the security of the country ahead of the welfare of their parties."

Bridges, chairman of the senate GOP policy committee, agreed in a separate statement that the debate over defense and foreign policies must not be "a glorified soapbox for the promotion of political parties or candidates."

"Must Face Facts"
Mansfield said both congress and the president must plan for the future "with courage, confidence and hope," and must "face the facts of life as they are, and not as we would wish them to be."

Quarles also called for a realistic look at the present as well as to the future.

Although Russia's Sputniks and ballistic weapons should be kept in mind, Quarles said, the nation must not forget the present military might of the Soviets—170 army divisions, more than 20,000 military planes, some 500 submarines.

"Until that happy day when peace can rest on safeguarded agreements between the nations of the world, security must depend on the forces in being and ready for action," Quarles said, adding:

Full Inquiry On Defenses
All Phases to be Covered in Probe, Vinson Declares

Washington — P — A house hearing starting next week will cover all phases of the nation's defenses, Rep. Vinson (D-Ga.) said today.

"We're going into everything, not only missiles—all weapons, organization, administration, roles and missions, appropriations, everything," he said.

Vinson is chairman of the house armed services committee which opens hearings Jan. 10.

Vinson did not go into detail. It appeared likely the many modern aircraft, including new B52 bombers and their least part of the same ground jet tankers. Additional dispersal bases for these are being preparedness subcommittee, provided, and our alert and which resumes on Jan. 6 a warning systems are being further hearing which emphasized mis-ther extended and improved."

Youth Accused of Slaying in New York
New York — P — A 16-year-old boy was charged today with homicide in the killing of a Queens woman.

The youth was tripped up, police said, because of his penchant for profanity.

Detectives John Sweeney and Harold Cohen, making a routine call to a precinct last Thursday, found an obscene word scratched with a knife on the telephone booth of a Queens diner.

The word, they said, was found same that had been found scrawled in lipstick on the page-vice notebook of Mrs. Mary Nerich, 44, when it was recovered Dec. 24, the day after her slaying.

Antonio Corvese, 65, Providence, R. I., clasps what is left of his $10,000 "walking bankroll" after he was slugged and robbed of $1,000 while on his way to work. Thugs overlooked $9,105.67 rolled in small brown paper bags and stuffed in pockets of his clothing. Outcome of the incident—20 stitches in Corvese's head, a $1,000 loss and a brand new $9,000 bank account. (AP Wirephoto)

Real Estate Board Must Give Applicant 'Fair Opportunity'

Madison—P—A circuit court judge said today that the examination given by the Wisconsin Real Estate Brokers Board to applicants for brokers' licenses sets standards "designed to fence in the licensing of real estate brokers."

Edwin Wilkie, judge of Dane county circuit court, ordered the board to give Mrs. Mirah Wall of Brown county "a fair opportunity to apply for a license within and not beyond the standards established by the legislature."

He held that the grading of her examination papers indicated she had been held to "an unreasonable hard rule of accuracy."

The case against the board was filed earlier this year on behalf of Mrs. Wall by Elliott N. Walstead, a Milwaukee attorney who served for 13 years as executive secretary to the board.

Says Grade Was Lowered
The board had denied a license to Mrs. Wall, who contended that her original passing grade was lowered by downgrading. Wilkie said her contention regarding downgrading appeared to have some validity due to erasures and changes in her grade on the examination paper.

"Licensed real estate brokers who now enjoy the field," Judge Wilkie said in his decision, "are entitled to competition from those new applicants who qualify as competent within the standards established by the legislature."

Figures provided by the board showed that 35 per cent

Can be Cured

Chicago — Something can be done about snoring, a Chicago otolaryngologist said today.

Snoring is a "widespread complaint that afflicts only those who are not the patients" and only because they are "so unfortunate as to have good hearing," according to Dr. Noah D. Fabricant.

In fact, there are probably at least 21 million such afflicted people in the country, if it is assumed that the 21 million Americans who snore each disturb the sleep of one other person.

Writing in the January Today's Health, the American Medical association's health magazine, Dr. Fabricant said snoring is generated while breathing in or out during sleep by several structures in the nose and throat.

The sounds are due to vibrations in the soft palate and other structures of the throat in response to inflowing and out-flowing air. Vibration occurs Beyer, James Emmmons, Karen when the soft tissues of the mouth and throat come close, come Price and Eugene Weener to the lining of the throat.

Grange Group Meets to Plan 1958 Activities

Greenville — The home economics committee of the South Greenville grange met at the home of Mrs. Henry Schaefer for a Christmas tea and to make plans for the year's work. Elmer Root and Mrs. Edna Brighman poured.

Thursday, Jan. 9 there will be a grange area conference at the grange conducted by State Master Ted Walton and his staff, including the state home economics chairman, state youth chairman, and the state lecturer. It will begin at 10:30 with a potluck luncheon at noon.

A chicken pie luncheon will be served to the public on Sunday, Jan. 26.

Thomson Says State May Impose Stiffer Traffic Penalties

Madison—P—Gov. Thomson said Tuesday the state may have to consider stiffer penalties for traffic law violations along with other possible legislative steps aimed at improving Wisconsin's traffic fatality rate.

He said states with lower traffic death rates than Wisconsin have larger state and county patrols and lower speed limits.

Wisconsin's traffic fatality rate, based on total miles traveled, is the lowest in the state's history, the governor reported.

He said the 1957 rate will figure out to about 6.2 deaths per hundred million miles traveled. Total mileage is computed from gasoline consumption as indicated by motor fuel tax receipts.

Thomson said he also plans to confer with leaders of state youth groups in the near future "to discuss the most effective and practical means of developing a safety program which the young people themselves will conduct."

Dale Marine Ends Visit at Home; Leaves for Coast

Dale — Private First Class Gordon Much left for Camp Pendleton, Calif., after spending two weeks with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Much.

Among the college students who came to the home for the holidays are Keith Beyer, James Emmmons, Karen when the soft tissues of the mouth and throat come close, come Price and Eugene Weener to the lining of the throat.

"In short, snoring can be Peoria, visited friends and relatives in Dale.

Miss Delores Braatz, Racine, spent the holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Braatz.

Husbands were guests when the Card club met at the home of Mrs. Oliver Kloehe.

The Ladies aid of St. Paul Lutheran church will meet Thursday with Mrs. Henry Bauer, Mrs. Edwin Berkman, Mrs. Ann Borwardt and Mrs. Carl Braatz as hostesses.

Two Cars Collide in Minor Traffic Mishap

New London — Robert J. Philpsen, 403 E. First street, who was driving a 1957 Chevrolet, and Eugene K. Hedtke, 1601 Division street, were involved in a minor traffic accident about 9:20 Tuesday morning on S. Pearl street, according to the city police.

Both cars were going north when the Philpsen car stooped to make a left turn onto South street. The Hedtke car struck the rear of the other machine. Damages were estimated under $100.

How It Begins

The members of the state emergency board properly showed a certain, self-consciousness, if not actual embarrassment, recently when they reluctantly accepted some $60,000 in federal money proffered by the federal bureaucracy for a new social service program in Wisconsin.

As explained by the state department of health in a perfunctory memorandum, this money will be used to experiment in a particular locality with programs designed to help the aged and chronically ill patients of state and public nursing homes to help themselves. If more of them can be transferred to "ambulatory" classifications, as the social workers put it, the costs of such institutional care will be reduced.

In the phrase that has become almost a litany on such occasions the officials said, "We'll save money in the long run."

Aside from wondering when this "long run" will occur, we are compelled to exhibit some curiosity about the circumstances of this anxious grant of U. S. taxpayers' money. Is this a really practical program, as it probably is, why can't the state finance it out of its own resources? The state department of health made many appearances before the legislature when it laid out its budget needs for the biennium. But this matter was never touched upon.

Our own legislature has many conscientious and able men concerned about social welfare. Nobody has ever proposed anything like this — out of state funds. Gov. Thomson offered this year a generous bundle of appropriation requests, in anybody's definition. But there was nothing like this in that bundle.

Moreover we are told that similar experiments are under way in other states. Would it not then be the course of prudence to await the results of these demonstrations elsewhere?

The fact that these grants are offered so generally to state departments around the country makes us suspicious. Like many other federal grants-in-aid, the purpose here is to invent a new form of spending that the states and localities haven't devised for themselves. It is a way of bribing the people of Wisconsin with their own U. S. tax money. How often have we heard the refrain that echoed out of the emergency board's chamber the other day: "If we don't take the money it will lapse and will be spent elsewhere?"

These are the things that make the goal of economical government and prudent taxation so illusory and sometimes, it seems, almost hopeless.

Rocket Firing in High Schools

The missiles and rockets which the Russians are cooking up are a real threat to the civilized world, but there is also grave danger for Americans in the homemade rockets. American youths are experimenting with.

It doesn't take a great genius to realize that there is danger in a group of boys playing with high explosives and projectiles. It is beginning to appear that the old-fashioned Fourth of July program is back on a year-round basis, with explosives many times more powerful than the old black powder that formerly blew people to bits.

It is not surprising that Francis Warren, missile and propellant expert of the Southwest Institute of San Antonio, Tex., has issued a warning against boys playing with homemade rockets. Since rocket firing is an outdoor sport most of the activity at this season is in the South and particularly in Texas where boys are rugged and there are some open spaces.

But even Texas is too crowded for rocket firing. Recently a San Antonio housewife was hanging out her laundry when she heard a "whoosh" behind her and, looking around, saw a piece of pipe buried in the ground only feet away. It was part of a homemade rocket. The next day a rocket prepared by a chemistry class in Floydada, Texas, blew up killing the teacher and wounding six members of the class.

Obviously no one is safe when boys start toying with rockets and explosives. It is not safe even under the supervision of a teacher. It is easy to see how a class in rocket firing would hold the close attention of most boys. It is even possible that such classwork could develop information of great value. But there must be better ways of getting the information we need.

We can't afford to kill off our chemistry teachers and maim our youthful chemistry students in the hope of generating more interest in chemistry. Nor can we have spent projectiles dropping on unsuspecting citizens.

This rocket firing business will have to be curtailed and carefully controlled or we will have a greater menace in our school yards than anything the Russians have offered so far. Some of the propellants being used in the homemade rockets are extremely dangerous as they can react with oxygen and explode at normal temperatures. The missile program should be left to the military.

Tragedy in Japan

The clashes of the old and the new, the East and the West, the traditional and the progressive have reached a tragic climax in Japan.

Princess Pu Hui-sheng is a niece of the last Emperor of China; her father, once the puppet ruler of Manchuria, is still imprisoned by the Red Chinese. She met young Takemichi Okubo, son of a railway executive. Both were 19 and both were students at Tokyo's university, newly coeducational. They professed their love and informed their parents of their intentions to marry.

But the princess' mother was adamant. A daughter of royal blood, who was even being considered as a possible wife by the Crown Prince Akito, marrying a commoner! Unthinkable! Okubo's parents were almost as horrified. So the young lovers ran away and their bodies were found in a wood with the traditional symbols of a Japanese suicide pact suspended over their heads.

One section of the Japanese public blames the tragedy on "feudalistic thinking" and the rigid adherence to the old codes. The other side insists that democratic ideas borrowed from the United States caused all the trouble. The university, it is pointed out, used to be limited only to men, and those of noble families.

Certainly changes in the traditions of centuries bring problems anew. But the tragedies of young love and codes of honor are universal. They arise from the rebellion of every generation when it comes in conflict with the settled ways of those who have forgotten the eagerness of young love.

People's Forum

Backs Protest on Homes Assessments

Editor, Post-Crescent:

Mr. Roger W. Kirkelde, in his recent letter to the People's Forum, certainly hits the nail on the head, in that newly built homes are carrying too much of the tax burden.

Most of the cities of the state have badly needed a reassessment by outside services for a long time. Fox Valley cities, especially, should be revalued. Appleton and Kaukauna are assessed only 50 per cent of full value. This is contrary to state law, which calls for 100 per cent full value. Little Chute and Kimberly stand at 38 per cent; Menasha, 63 per cent; Neenah, 45 per cent. Seymour had a reassessment this last summer, bringing its values up to 100 per cent; the Town of Harrison, Calumet county, brought its values up a couple of years ago. Other progressive cities with full valuations are: Algoma, Clintonville, Oconto Falls, Plymouth, Rhinelander, Shawano, Sheboygan, Superior, Watertown, and West Bend. Some city officials, including assessors, think they are saving taxpayers money by keeping assessed valuation low, but they forget that the State Tax department makes its own assessment and keeps it up to 100 per cent full value by adjustments every year. All state and county taxes are collected based on the state's figures, so local taxpayers are not saved any tax money. It will cost something to bring the State Tax department for a reassessment job, but the additional values they find that have been escaping taxation will more than pay the fee. If the city council refuses to vote for revaluation, taxpayers can initiate it by getting a number of signers, aggregating a certain small amount of assessed valuation, on a petition to the State Tax department who then call a public hearing at the local city hall. The state then orders a revaluation, if evidence warrants it.

It is just as important to have valuations audited as it is to audit cities' books. A full value revaluation would reduce Appleton's rate of $37.50 to $18.

Kaukauna

Sadistic Phone Calls

Editor, Post-Crescent:

What is our city coming to? Do we have a monster running around? Pets have been in households since the beginning of time. How can we keep them safe?

We lost our Siamese cat. We put an ad in our paper offering a reward. Oh, yes: we had phone calls—two of them. One a woman who wouldn't give her name or address, but said she would bring him home; but she did not. Another, just two days before Christmas, a man who said, "I have your cat, and I am going to kill him."

Are our children safe, if we get calls like this? I called our law officers, but they can do nothing, because our phone company cannot trace such calls. Yet our phone company says they are going to raise phone rates. Yet when one needs a service to the people, we cannot get it—why?

When are We Going to Stop Red Enslavement of Nations?

BY GEORGE SOKOLSKY

(Copyright, 1957)

NATO is an association of states for self-defense; it is not a union of states, it is not a sovereign. Unlike the United Nations, NATO is a product of the American containment policy, but what is NATO's line? If NATO, SEATO, the Baghdad Treaty countries are in agreement, what is the line of containment?

This is the essential question of 1958. It was not answered in 1957, as far as the public knows. Soviet Russia's advance has been so swift, so sure, so dramatic that it could not be answered with assurance. Without a line, how can a target be set?

For instance, during the Truman administration, whereas the Russians were contained in Europe, they broke out into Asia where they took half of Korea, half of Vietnam, neutralized Burma, limited the freedom of action of India. Today, the communists are conducting a full-fledged revolution in Indonesia which can do more than the Bandung conference to weaken American influence in Asia and Africa. In fact, the Cairo conference of Asian and African nations, now in session, hardly is noticed in our newspapers; yet upon such a conference may depend war or peace, survival for many nations, including the United States.

U. S. to Blame

The United States is entirely to blame for the debacle of order in Indonesia. It was American policy to insist upon Indonesian self-government, which meant driving out our allies, the Dutch. The Indonesians were neither politically nor economically ready for self-government. As long as the Dutch were willing to remain to conduct the business for the Javanese and other Indonesians, the economy of these rich islands was maintained. The communists spread their influence, particularly among the Chinese who as a mercantile middle class constitute a large population in Indonesia. When Sukarno admitted communists into his government, he cut his own political throat. At any rate, he is leaving the country for his health, while the Dutch are fleeing the area and the estates are being confiscated and neglected—a condition which may require years to correct.

Is Indonesia outside the line of our interest? What if red China creates satellite states as Soviet Russia created satellite states, will it not be possible for Russian and Chinese communists to squeeze us out of Asia, as we have been squeezed out of eastern Europe and as the Russians plan to squeeze us out of Moslem countries?

It is impossible to believe that this question was not discussed at NATO. Surely, the Dutch and the French brought it up and asked for some kind of decision. Surely, Turkey brought it up because of developments in Egypt and Syria—developments which Greece can ignore as little as Turkey.

And what was said about those questions? Has a line been drawn? At Yalta, Stalin tried to divide the world with Franklin D. Roosevelt. Prior to World War II, Stalin and Hitler had divided the world between them in the Molotov-Ribbentrop Pact. Khrushchev apparently has some such idea in mind, namely, that he and Eisenhower, if they met face to face, could save the world from a destructive war by dividing it between Soviet Russia and the United States.

Partners With Russia

Then we could be partners with Russia in the enslavement of free peoples to either our yoke or Khrushchev's.

After all, we did, during World War II, force large bodies of Russian defectors to go back to Russia to be killed and we have ignored the murder of the Hungarians after our broadcasts had encouraged them to believe that if they struck for freedom, we would be there to support them. We were not there. Apart from some speeches in the United Nations, we have done nothing for the Hungarians. Why then should those who seek freedom among the satellites ever trust us? Why should our milk-toast diplomats not agree to a division of the world if that will look like peace and keep the president in the illusion of peace?

It all comes back to the word, line. At any rate, Harry Truman, being of a simple nature, knew that you draw a line and tell a fellow that if he dares to cross it, he goes at his own risk. Our present rulers, being more complex, dare not draw such a line, lest their bluff be called.

So they talk platitudes while time's a-wasting. But platitudes do not win wars.

New Year's Day Quiet in 1879

79 YEARS AGO

Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for the week of Jan. 4, 1879.

In the city New Year's Day was the quietest known for many years, but few stirring on the streets and only about a half dozen gentlemen observed the custom of making New Year's calls.

Few ladies of the town kept "open house" for the purpose of calls this year.

Some of our citizens enjoyed the hospitality of their neighbors, and, gathering about the cheerful firesides, gave up the day to social enjoyment and a renewing of the ties of friendship. Others gathered in groups to discuss the possibilities of snow and Pedro.

Dances at the Waverly and Turner Hall closed the day's festivities.

The Ice Cathedral which attracted thousands of persons to Lawrence campus during the Christmas holidays, was to be dismantled that afternoon. While it still was solid, the heavy rains of Saturday, and the warm sun which followed ate large holes through the ice and it no longer presented a most attractive appearance.

Martin Vernagen, Kimberly, newly elected sheriff who was to take office Monday, took his oath of office before John E. Hantschel, county clerk. At the same time Sheriff Verhagen announced the appointment of Joseph Verstegen, Little Chute, as his undersheriff.

Dr. Lyle Douglas Upps, rector of All Saints Episcopal church, was to speak at the weekly meeting of Appleton Optimists club.

Miss Dorothea Wonders was elected prefect of Young Ladies' sodality of St. Joseph church to succeed Miss Christine Oudenhoven. Miss Ida Becher was re-elected vice prefect, Miss Dolores Dohr was again named financial secretary, and Miss Eileen Schomisch was chosen recording secretary.

William G. Trilling, Menasha, was installed as president of the Menasha Kiwanis club.

Oregon Also Questions Open Primary Elections

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

Madison—This state shares with Oregon in the far west the distinction of inventing and perfecting the direct primary method of selecting candidates for office. It was a substitute for the caucus and convention method that formerly prevailed in both states and survives in much of the country today.

The fact may attach some interest to thinking in Oregon today about useful modifications of the direct primary idea, including pre-primary conventions of responsible party workers for the preliminary endorsement and recruitment of qualified candidates for nominations.

The word "endorsement" has become cloaked with so much propaganda covering in this state, because of the circumstances of local party rivalry, that some of the liberals or those who may fancy themselves liberals will doubtless be surprised to know that the west coast modifications are being sponsored by liberal groups. A recent assembly of political scientists, for example, backed the idea. And a current article in a scholarly political science periodical on the coast repeats it in these words:

"What we need is a law, a statute, requiring each party organization, either through convention or by smaller party committees, preferably the latter, to endorse candidates at a pre-primary session."

THE ECHO

Such commentaries have an importance in Wisconsin affairs, where the issue of party responsibility which appears so clear to the unprejudiced student of politics has become tangled hopelessly in propaganda considerations, unfortunately for the understanding of the serious private citizen.

The idea of pre-primary endorsement and recommendation of candidates, of course, is not new here. The Republican party, ruler of Wisconsin for a generation, has frequently endorsed candidates for open primary competition. But it has done so at considerable cost to itself. Almost to a man, the "liberals" have stood by with contemptuous and snarling criticism. The Democrats have made virtue out of circumstance. They have not had such pre-primary endorsements, mostly because they are shackled to the leadership of some biased men oriented to other days, partly because as practical politicians they didn't like to surrender the club with which they have beaten the Republicans so often.

Yet the hazards of purely unguided popular selection are obvious—to conscientious Democrats as well as to Republicans and non-professing students who observe the political goings-on of Wisconsin.

Democrats upon occasion have had to hold their noses about the products of the open primary. Republicans have had more trouble—because their ticket has been winning and some of the accidents of the people's haphazard choice have come into office under their label. Only last year the leading man of the Wisconsin Democracy had to repudiate publicly a nominee on his ticket for a strategically high office—because he was patently unqualified in spite of his credentials won in the open primary.

A leading Wisconsin political worker once summarized the issue, and was crucified for his pains. This patient student of Wisconsin politics will essay the same summary, cognizant of the risks that are involved.

Recruitment of candidates is one of the highest and essential purposes of a political party. The workers and officers of a party are better qualified to recommend worthy and representative candidates than any other.

It's announced Ike owns a dog. When Ike's appeal gets somewhat ragged, they call upon a guy named Hagerty. With a mind that's keen and also tidy, he reveals Ike loves a dog named Heidi.

Democrats have a new strategy. If Ike's defense budget is $40 billion, they'll yell, "Wastrel!" If it's $39,900,000,000, they'll scream, "Skinflint!"

Sputnik I circles the globe 1,300 times. Now if we could just get Khrushchev to drink a toast: every time it comes over, we'd have this thing made.

If we took all the energy wasted sticking pins in new shirts and added it to all the energy wasted taking pins out of new shirts, we could make mince-meat of the Russians.

A Wisconsin professor says the population increase is "terrifying." It isn't so much the extra people, but how are we going to feed all their dogs, cats and parakeets?

J. Edgar Hoover says Americans committed 7,500 crimes a day in 1957. It's going to take an awful lot of work for the U. S. Supreme court to let all those people off.

Fund Drive for Girl Scouts Is Well Over Top

Campaign Started In September Ends With $2,987 Donated

Kaukauna — The Girl Scout fund drive which opened in the city in September has officially been closed with the city giving $2,987 over the quota of $2,000 which had been set, according to Fred Hartzheim and Jack Verbeeten, co-chairmen for this year's drive.

The $2,987 collected was a result of a 3-phase program designed to cover every home, business place and industry in the city, according to the co-chairmen. The co-chairmen made calls in person to all industries and sent letters of solicitation to business, professional people and organizations.

Members of Girl Scouts and women interested in the scouting movement joined forces for a house to house solicitation for funds. Money collected was sent to the regional office at Appleton where it will be used to further the scout movement.

It is particularly gratifying to see Kaukauna go over the top, said the co-chairmen, in view of the construction of a cabin at Camp Winnecomac which will permit use of the camp both in winter and summer. A portion of the money collected is used in the upkeep of the Kaukauna campsite. Money collected is also used for the upkeep at Chalk Hills, to train leaders and carry out other Girl Scout projects.

The co-chairmen expressed their appreciation to all who contributed to the drive, either in the form of time for collections or for actual donations.

Kaukauna — George Kailhofer rapped a 232 singleton, the highest score posted this year in the Saturday afternoon teenagers bowling program, sponsored by the recreation department.

The high game enabled his team to win two games from the Charles Schmitt's crew. Other team results had Lance Goetzman's team winning two from Ken Jirikowic's, Roger Van Toll's winning two from Pele Bachhuber's on forfeit, Lee Jacobs' team winning two from Alice Kempen's and breaking even in 2-game sets were teams headed by Athly Andrews, Dan Killian, Marilyn Weyers and Hope Goetzman.

Scores rolled Saturday will be added to first game scores hit next Saturday and used for a National Junior Bowling tournament. Scores for 3-game sets rolled by teenagers from throughout the nation will be tabulated in Chicago by the National Bowling Congress.

Other high individual scores hit last week were Bill Biese, 186; Dick Fahrbach, 175; Roger Van Toll, 163; Leigh Wachel, 152; Jim Schumann and Colleen Dietrich, 138; Joanne Vandenberg, 130; Chuck Schmitt, 122; Jean LaBorde, Lance Goetzman and Bob Effa, 126 and Lee Jacob, 125.

158-Year Old Paper Tells Of Washington's Death

Kaukauna — A newspaper, published Jan. 4, 1890 in New York, telling of the death and burial of George Washington was found recently by James I. McFadden, Kaukauna, as he went through some items formerly owned by his grandfather.

The paper is in near perfect condition, considering its 158 years, only slightly yellowed and hardly torn. The aged document is called, "Ulster County Gazette," and was published in Kingston by Samuel Freer and Son. It is the second volume of the paper and was put out on Saturday. A person is unable to tell whether it is a complete paper or merely a section as the pages are not numbered.

First Page The first page of the paper is devoted to stories from the American congress, carrying verbatim messages from the president, John Adams to the congress and the written responses of the congress to the president. This comprises about two of the four columns on the front page.

The remaining front page stories consist of reprints of stories published in the "London Gazette" in October telling of the battle of Zurich and dispatches sent from generals in the field of battle. The paper states the London paper was received in New York on Dec. 23 "by arrival of the Factor from Falmouth."

The second page is again devoted to stories of the war in Europe and messages from the congress and the president. One column on the page is dedicated exclusively to a report on the death of George Washington by a member of the congress.

The report in part reads: "The melancholy event which was yesterday announced with our doubt, has been rendered too certain. Our Washington is no more. The hero, the sage, and the patriot of America—the man on whom in times of danger, every eye was turned and all hopes were placed lives now only in his own great actions, and in the hearts of an afflicted people." The report of the congress goes on to tell more about the work of the first president and then lists resolutions which the congress adopted to display their tribute, respect and affection for the departed president. The third of the four resolutions reads: "Resolved, That a committee, in conjunction with one from the Senate, be appointed to consider on the most suitable manner of paying honor to the memory of the man, first in war, first in peace, and first in the hearts of his country."

Third Page The third page is devoted entirely to stories concerning the death and burial of Washington with the exception of a few classified ads. All ads appearing in the paper are of the classified variety and the paper carries no pictures.

Included on the third page is a poem entitled "On The Death Of George Washington," below which in parenthesis is "by a young lady." The page also carries many legal notices telling of foreclosures, notices of creditors of deceased persons and other data.

The fourth page of the paper is devoted exclusively to legal notices and ads. Included in the ads are several of the choice lots "a stout healthy, active negro, can lift heavy a stray red bull, a stolen gun and others. The ads also include several from the printer Samuel Freer, one asking for rags and the second offering an assortment of goods to be traded for cash or country produce. He also advertised he would purchase ashes, presumably for making soap.

Mayor Fails in Effort to Get Cut in Salary

East Liverpool, Ohio — Mayor-elect Fred P. Lawrence is pretty discouraged over his failure to get his salary cut.

The mayor's salary is $2,400 a year but Lawrence doesn't exactly need it. A retired post-office official, and president of an electric company, he has enough private funds to provide for himself.

Lawrence was to use that money to "be a better safety-service director for the city. The director has to spend more time of the night as a mayor, and gets $100 a year out of Lawrence would like to raise the salary.

He wanted to raise it to $3,000 a year but the city council voted to keep it at $2,400.

Power Versus Nature Question Will Erupt

State Commission to Hear WVIC's
Purpose for Dam on New Wood River

post-crescent madison bureau
Madison — The long - continued issue of kilowatts for economic development versus natural resources for scenic and recreational enjoyment is about to erupt again.

Conservationists are girding for another fight on the issue of impounding river waters for hydro-electric power.

Target of their attack will be the Wisconsin Valley Improvement company, which at a public service commission hearing Jan. 23 will explain its purpose in asking for a state permit to dam the New Wood river in Lincoln county for power generation.

The proposed impoundment on a Wisconsin river tributary will be another in a long series of such developments on the Wisconsin and its connected streams, called "the hardest working river in the world" because of its extensive system of power dams.

Threatens Land
The WVIC is a corporation formed by a number of the principal electric utilities of the state.

As the conservationists see it, the pending application threatens not only the value of a stream now widely used by trout fishermen, but it also proposes the destruction of some valuable game lands including deer yards that would be flooded.

Actually the circumstances are different in that the WVIC as a separately chartered company has broader powers than most of the other utilities of the state. The legislature has specifically given it power to acquire lands, including state lands, in return for compensation to be established by the public service commission.

No Standards
The legislature has tried to write into law some guideposts or standards for the public service commission but has not done so successfully. For example, the commission is required to measure economic effects of such impoundments and the recreational values affected.

Simply put, the issue is one of electric power for the economic development of the state, comparatively easy to identify and to evaluate against the esthetic value of a trout, or a canoe trip, or the thrill of pursuit of a small mouth bass or a buck deer.

Power Importance
The availability of power is one of the significant keys to industrial expansion and developments. Without the Wisconsin valley's hydro-electric resources, the enormous industrial complex in the central part of the state, including the huge paper making industry, could not have been possible, the public service commissioners will be told.

The classic case in this perennial conflict involved the huge Dairyland Power cooperative and its proposal to dam the Flambeau about a decade ago. The conservationists protested. The cooperative took its case to the legislature, which in a thunderous vote decided that lighting the farm houses of upper Wisconsin was more important than preserving the beauties of the river for nature lovers.

Walk by Pegler Recalls Murders

Many Killed in Small Section
Of New York City Over Years

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York — Christmas eve cry his heart out. She was a little actress. She had him on friend up past Columbus circle where he died he blew up."

again the I pointed down the darkness world is all up into 71st street, west. My friend heaved with said. "Joe Elliott? What a great guy. I can almost still see dear old Tom Handley writing and Karl Decker sitting on the little red stool."

warning lights. Handley and Decker worked the murder for the Morning Telegraph. Tom had been at San Juan hill and Karl was the reporter who rescued Evangelina Cisneros from the Morro castle for Hearst.

Elliott ran the first speakeasy in town. It was a bridge club on Central Park south. He was found upright at 7 a. m. in a chair in his pajamas. His wife was on a little table and his false teeth were found in his breast pocket. There was a hole in his forehead. Nail punched and bloodied all around.

The lady who had left her pajamas in Joe's bedroom took off for Paris. About 35 married men and women on Long Island, rich trash intermarried with Broadway raffish, couldn't prove an alibi that night. One of them was old man Woodward whose son was killed, accident.

My friend ignored him cautiously and said, "I was in a man's office in a bank building on the circle one summer morning and the police came through the hatch with their guns to shoot two dead men on a roof on 5th street. It took weeks to get identifications. No social security then. A Cuban woman had seduced them up the dark and silent stairs, as the old World stunts used to say. A nice young detective did great work. They were garrotted with their neckties, so he figured Latinos did it. He was awfully discouraged when the D. A. let the woman and two men get away with murder two."

Where was Frank Campbell's funeral place, where Valentino lay when the mob pushed the window in?

Got Coffin Plates
"My friend said, 'It was about 60th, but I couldn't place it now. Harry Klemfuss was doing publicity for Campbell and it was his job to make death beautiful. Campbell had a standing offer to bury any New York reporter who died broke. Everybody on the Valentino job got a coffinplate all engraved except the date of death. Mark Hellinger used his for a paperweight for years. One of McGraw's old ballplayers used to make dates with his wife's ashes. He would park the urn on the bar and ally of course, in that shotgun mishap in his home in the small hours of the night a few years ago.

Elwell had a wine cellar. The cellar, at least, was still there, when the investigation finally petered out.

"What a lovely murder," my friend sighed again. "Countesses, Ziegfeld beauties, little black books and red pajamas!"

Shot in Apartment
The Ansonia hotel was just up there, where the gamblers tied up the 1919 White Sox for the world series fake. W. E. D. Stokes, who built the place, was a reclusive object who played on Harvard's first varsity in the first intercollegiate football game. This was at New Brunswick against Rutgers. When his class held its 50th reunion, he wasn't invited. When he was shot in his apartment in the Ansonia he claimed a couple of show girls were trying to blackmail him. Oscar Hammerstein backed them right into the old Victoria as the Shooting Stars.

Somewhere along here was the original Reuben's delicatessen which charged a guy $40 for a ham. The guy kicked. Harry Reichenbach, then pressman and woman on Long Island, rich trash intermarried with Broadway raffish, couldn't prove an alibi that night. One of them was old man Woodward whose son was killed, accident.

About 1 a. m., we were back

and waiters got loaded and tossed Christmas trees all over the neighborhood that Christmas Eve because Elliott, who was peddling trees off his old man's Hyde Park layout, rewarded each loyal servitor with a tree. How were they going to get those dam pines home in the subways? That Elliott is the champion of them all.

4, Possibly 5, South Poles in Antarctica

By RENNIE TAYLOR

McMurdo Sound, Antarctica which runs approximately north and south. One end of this south pole down here you have magnet lies some 800 miles beneath the earth's surface at this glacier.

Antarctica has four south poles—one more than the north hemisphere—and a fifth deep. Because of mineral deposits in the earth's surface, the lines of force of the earth's magnetic field do not enter the earth's surface.

The four poles are of great scientific interest. American and other International Geophysical year scientists are studying three of them and the Russians have announced plans for building a station at the fourth.

First and best known is the south geographic pole. It is the dead center of the earth's axis—the absolute bottom of the world.

Here your watch is always correct, theoretically at least. Whether it is running or not. Here you can walk around the world in less than five minutes. But when you stand exactly on this tiny spot you can move in only one direction—north. Here you weigh a little more than you do in the United States. Europe or any place closer to the equator.

Next is the south geomagnetic pole. This is the point where the lines of the earth's magnetic field, if they could be observed from about 15,000 miles up, would appear to converge. They meet there something like the way meridians of longitude meet at the geographic pole, as seen on a map. It is one end of the axis of the earth's magnetic field.

Erratic Compasses
The south geomagnetic pole is calculated to be 791 miles from the geographic pole. This spot lies along a line between the geographic pole and southwestern Australia. In its vicinity magnetic compasses behave erratically and cannot be used.

Third on the list is the south magnetic pole, which is different from the geomagnetic pole. At this point a magnetic compass needle that is free to do so will point straight downward.

The south magnetic pole is 1,526 miles from the geographic pole. It is at the head of the Mertz glacier on the Antarctic coast in the direction of Tasmania and Australia. Here the compass needle turns downward because some part of the earth's interior forms a bar magnet about 6,200 miles long.

which runs approximately north and south. One end of this south pole down here you have magnet lies some 800 miles beneath the earth's surface at this glacier.

The other end is in far northern Canada at a similar depth. Because of mineral deposits in the earth's surface, the lines of force of the earth's magnetic field do not enter the earth's surface.

Fourth and least known is the pole of inaccessibility. This is one of the northern hemisphere does not have. In effect it is the most remote point on the Antarctic continent—the spot farthest from all shores and therefore hardest to reach. It is at 82 degrees, 20 minutes south latitude and 40 degrees, 50 minutes east longitude, about 550 miles from the geographic pole in the direction of Madagascar. It happens to be diametrically opposite the north geomagnetic pole.

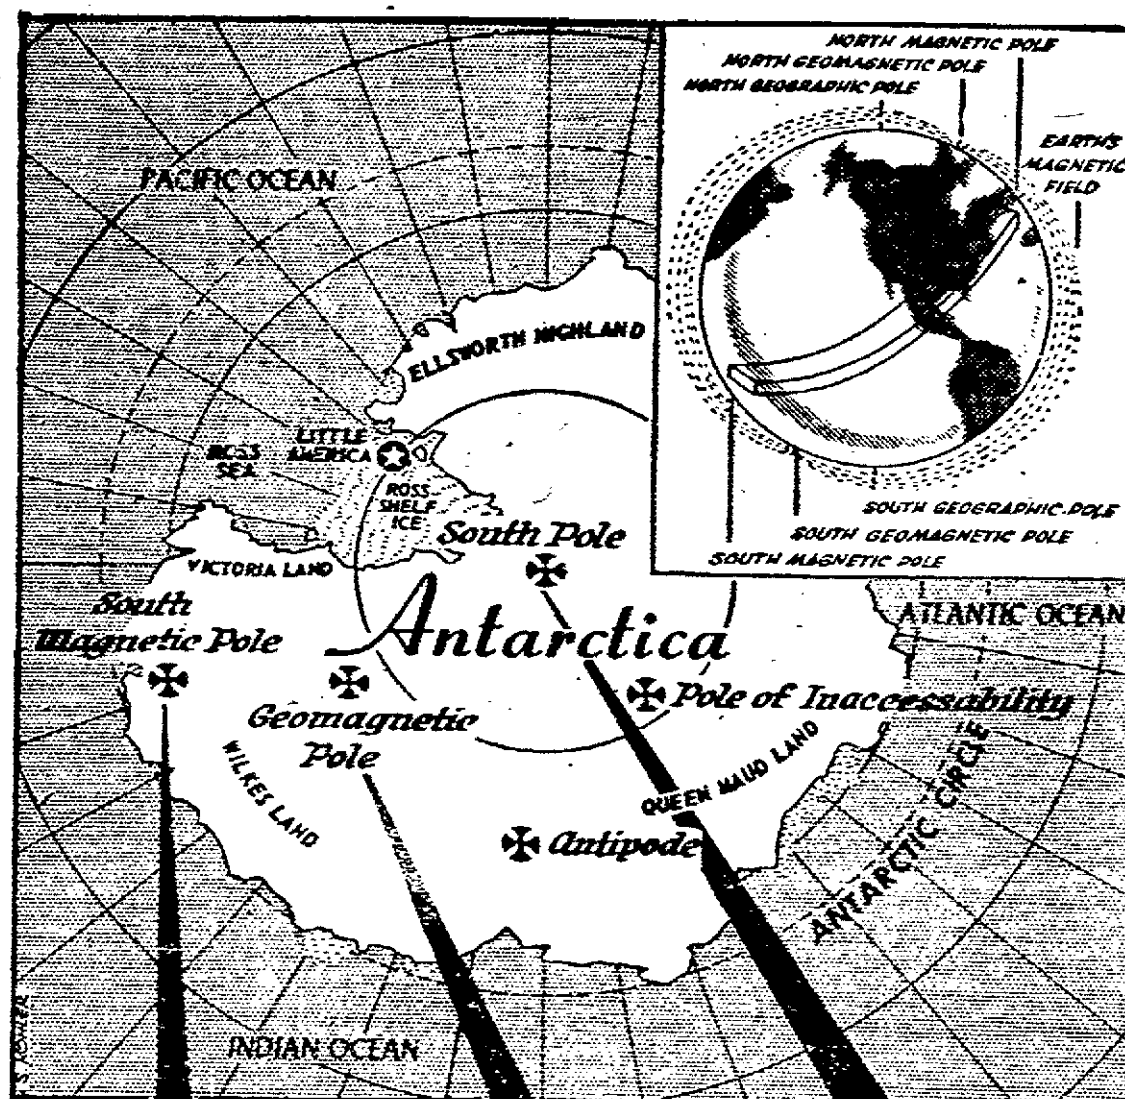

The Russians plan to build a station near the pole of inaccessibility. Finally there is another place which is not a pole but might be called one. It is the antipode or the spot directly opposite the north magnetic pole. It lies about 1,100 miles from the south geographic pole in a line that bisects the Indian ocean between Australia and Africa.

If the earth's great magnet were a straight bar from its beginning under the north magnetic pole spot it would end about 800 miles directly beneath this antipode. Instead it ends nearly 1,500 miles away, to the east and north.

This indicates the great magnet is bent or irregularly shaped (see inset). One of the goals of IGY research is to learn calculations have to be changed. In the center is a single up-right barrel holding a staff that flies the Stars and Stripes.

When you walk around the circle you theoretically circumnavigate the earth because the result of them is not yet known. Other investigations have discovered, at points on or near the coast, the investigations are continuing in the hope that all the meridians of longitude point the way toward improving radio communication during pe-

At this spot you weigh more rods of magnetic storms.

Here your compass points straight up and down. Here your compass behaves erratically, becomes useless. Here your watch is always correct, even when stopped.

State May Try Experiment in Prison Labor

Consider Using Waupun Inmates for Construction Work

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
Madison—A big experiment in the use of state prison labor may be in preparation.

State department of public welfare officers are considering using inmate workmen from the state prison at Waupun for construction work on a new medium security prison to be erected on a prison farm about 10 miles from the penitentiary in Dodge county.

The news was disclosed at a meeting of the state building commission here when Welfare Director Wilbur Schmidt was outlining his construction plans.

"Will you be able to use some prison inmates on the job?" inquired Sen. Frank Panzer of Dodge county, whose district includes the prison community.

"Yes, we are hoping to do so," Schmidt replied, recalling when he crawled into an auto—that prison work crews have been successfully used on some major expansion programs at making.

the Waupun prison lately at huge savings to the state treasury.

State officials are familiar with the historical resistance of contractors and organized labor to using prison work crews on projects that otherwise would require competition in the marketplace.

Over many years of state prison operations experience, finding useful work for inmates has sometimes been difficult because of the resistance of private interests to such competition. Prisoners are paid only a few cents a day for their work.

Moral: Don't Pick Car Near Police Station To Sleep Off Binge

Columbus, Miss. — A man named Hicks made two mistakes so, Schmidt replied, recalling when he crawled into an auto—that prison work crews have been successfully used on some major expansion programs at making.

Police said the automobile he chose was parked on the police department parking lot and belonged to the department's janitor, Mike Hill.

Hill found Hicks in his car and police charged him with public drunkenness.

Dentists Hail AMA's Action On Fluoridation

See No Reason Why
Decay-Cutting Agent
Shouldn't Be in Water

The reaffirmation of water fluoridation by the American Medical Association has been viewed editorially by the Journal of the American Dental Association as "still another reason why no community should deprive its children of the measure's benefits."

The AMA's policy-making house of delegates Dec. 5 adopted a report on the measure prepared by its council on drugs and council on foods and nutrition.

Now that the nation's leading medical authorities have, once again, attested to the safety aspect of fluoridation," the editorial said, "and the country's leading dental authorities have vouched for its anticariogenic (tooth decay prevention) aspects—both of which properties also are recognized by leading public health authorities—there is no reason why any community, interested in the health and well-being of its children, should withhold from them the benefits of properly fluoridated drinking water."

The text of the editorial follows:

The long awaited report on fluoridation prepared by the council on drugs and the council on foods and nutrition of the American Medical Association was approved by the house of delegates—the policy-making body of the American Medical Association—at its 11th annual clinical session Dec. 5.

This action of the American Medical Association reaffirms in stronger language—the policy expressed by that organization in 1951 that: "The use of drinking water containing up to one part per million of fluoride is safe."

The present report states in part that "no evidence has been found since the 1951 statement by the council to prove that continuous ingestion of water containing the equivalent of approximately one part per million of fluoride for long periods by large segments of the population is harmful to the general health."

Now that the nation's leading medical authorities have, once again, attested to the safety aspect of fluoridation and the country's leading dental authorities have vouched for its anticariogenic aspects—both of which properties also are recognized by leading public health authorities—there is no reason why any community, interested in the health and well-being of its children, should withhold from them the benefits of properly fluoridated drinking water.

Twenty men competed, only two being corporals. McIntyre did not place in the finals.

150 Flee After Bomb Reported in New York Railroad Terminal

New York — The Grand Central terminal waiting room was evacuated Tuesday night after an anonymous telephone caller said a bomb had been placed in an adjoining baggage room.

About 150 persons were routed while police searched the area for an hour. No bomb was found.

Police also searched the grounds of the Soviet delegation to the United Nations in Manhattan after hearing of a bomb threat. Again, no bomb was found.

K-C Official Urges Public Opinion Drive

Says Citizens Should
Let Representatives
Know Their Opinions

Public opinion must be mobilized on issues at every level of government, Leonard E. Pasek, assistant to the president of the Kimberly-Clark corporation, told Appleton Downtown and Northside Kiwanis club members Tuesday noon.

Pasek urged Kiwanians to let their elected representatives know where they stand on important issues.

"Appleton citizens should be ready to expend time, money and effort in support of worthy local causes," he said. He named the new Fox Cities baseball club, the Appleton Memorial hospital, the Fox Cities urban program and the upcoming April elections as worthy of support.

State Front

On the state front, Pasek called for citizen interest in the sales tax, water law study and proposals to deal with increased college enrollments.

"In regard to the water law study," he stated, "Wisconsin has an opportunity to present the nation with an example of constructive legislation."

On the national scene, Pasek said, citizens should oppose increased federal government. He advocated that governmental powers be returned to state and local agencies.

Customs Dispute

"Wisconsin had a chance to oppose governmental interference in the Milwaukee customs house dispute," Pasek declared.

"Washington was trying to cut government costs but all our political officials raised a hue and cry opposing it and finally the government had to back down." The customs house should have been closed, he said.

Pasek called federal power projects, rigid dairy price supports and federal aid to education examples of federal interference. He said state, local and private agencies can do the jobs as well, if not better.

"Unless boondoggling is killed we'll have to pay the bill for those states not willing to carry their share of the load," Pasek said.

Two Boys Spend New Year's Eve On Mountain Top

Alleghie, Italy—Two German teen-agers who conquered a 9,274-foot dolomite peak in an unprecedented winter climb slowly edged down its icy slopes today after spending New Year's Eve on the summit.

The youths—Georg Ehman, 18, both of Nuernberg—were 19, and Herbert Baumgartner, reported in fairly good condition as they made their way down the "Torre Val Grande."

The pair began the climb last Friday. They reached the top last night after fighting their way, inch by inch, up the final feet of a rocky face never before climbed in winter.

An 8-man rescue party that had set out early today to help them remained at the foot of the peak after the youths signaled they did not need assistance.

Two friends of the climbers—Diter Zellenheffer and Richard Weiss, also of Nuernberg—set out with food yesterday in search of the pair. Three other alpinists joined them, but the group was forced by snow and threat of avalanches to turn back.

A guide returning from the area said Weiss suffered frozen feet and had to be carried down to a shelter on a lower slope.

Congress Will be More Conservative

Stokes Says Most Republicans Unhappy, Ready to Join South

BY THOMAS L. STOKES

Washington — Ordinarily congress is, by and large, inclined toward conservatism by the very nature of circumstances. This is likely to be true more than ever now, because in the second session of the 85th congress the grim emphasis will be on national defense and its Russian overtones and the gloomy domestic economic outlook and the falling indices.

At the center of this conservatism is the revived coalition of southern conservative Democrats and Republicans. During the civil rights fight in the last session Republicans joined with northern Democrats, but that had been an unfamiliar and uncomfortable alliance.

Republicans Disillusioned The marriage of convenience is obviously over — that is, except for eastern Republicans in congress, after all their efforts for large states, sometimes designed to help southern Democrats. In the end the Republicans were unable to prevail in the elections in New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania the Northern Democratic partners, goes stronger for the Democrats. Instead, they were skillfully crabs than before.

bested by Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (D., Tex.), Democratic party leader, and a combination of western and southwestern Democrats and a few Republicans.

What has happened is that the bulk of Republicans are disillusioned now and ready to go back with the coalition which worked so happily with the southerners. In double harness ever since 1930, they fought side by side against new deal economic and social welfare issues.

Want Conservatism

This is not a happy solution for eastern Republicans or for northern Democrats. But the truth is that they are outnumbered. Especially on civil rights, this will be nothing but a sham battle as far as congress is concerned, though they must put up a bold front. When the official word came from Atty. Gen. William Rogers, the administration abandoned any further civil rights legislation for the rest of this 85th congress. This, of course, means until after the November, 1958, election.

Republican leaders in concept for eastern Republicans in congress, after all their efforts for large states, sometimes designed to help southern Democrats. In the end the Republicans were unable to prevail in the elections in New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania the Northern Democratic partners, goes stronger for the Democrats. Instead, they were skillfully crabs than before.

It might be said that Republicans discourage easily, even though the election picture is bad enough. What the truth is in some cases, or at least so it seems, is that many Republicans in congress were more earnest about conservatism than about civil rights. They seemed, in fact, to be more contented with their old southern cronies.

Once again there is a rebirth of the conservative spirit among Republicans in congress, and once again they insist that the party is going back to "old-fashioned" Republicanism. They are pessimistic about the Eisenhower administration, and about their second successive defeat in congress. They seem to have reverted to type, more strained and intense, with less and less sympathy for Eisenhower Republicans.

They are discouraged about the necessity of spending for defense and more morose about tax reduction. In fact, there may be an increase of taxes, and they have long faces about the prospect of an unbalanced budget.

Slash Appropriations

There is only one prospect which pleases, however. This is that conservative Republicans believe they can hold down and slash "welfare" appropriations, in which they lump together such things as public power and public atomic energy, which conservative Republicans so detest.

Conservative Republicans are looking forward to their old coalition with conservative southern Democrats.

There is only one possibility, however, that disturbs them. This is that the economic situation may be worse than they had anticipated. Then there will be nothing but to spend on pump-priming projects of the welfare category, such as housing, slum clearance, highways, bridges, and the kind.

Fluoridation Continues to Show Gains Throughout United States

Latest Figures Indicate 100 Systems Began Public Health Measure in 1956

Fluoridation of public water supplies has continued to flourish, with 100 American water systems instituting the measure in 1956. The systems serve 6,788,591 people.

Twelve systems supplying 184,546 people discontinued the measure during the year, and four systems serving 38,369 re-instituted the program.

The latest figures, revealed in the November issue of the Journal of the American Water Works association, show a total of 759 U.S. water systems serving 1,487 communities and 31,416,112 people currently using fluoridation.

(In many cases, one system supplies more than one community, accounting for the difference between water systems and communities.)

In Canada, a total of 25 systems serving 890,450 people were using fluoridated water in 1956, an increase of 7 systems and 158,850 people over 1955.

Graphs printed in the Journal report fluoridation has continued to gain in popularity since 1945, when three water systems serving six communities and 231,920 people were using the chemical. A consistent increase has been shown each year since then.

The number of systems discontinuing the measure has shown a steady drop since the peak year of 1954, when 20 systems stopped putting the chemical into water supplies. The number dropped to 18 in 1955 and 12 in 1956.

On the other hand, systems reinstating fluoridation increased in '56. In 1953, 1954 and 1955, two systems reinstated the measure each year. This figure was four in 1956.

Sodium silicofluoride (the compound used by the Appleton water department) remained the most popular compound and the cheapest. Of the systems fluoridating, 323 used silicofluoride, 275 used sodium fluoride with the remainder divided between fluosilicic acid, ammonium fluosilicate and other compounds not specified.

Proven Safe
The addition of the compound in the proportion of one part fluoride to every million parts water reduces the incidence of tooth decay in children. The method is endorsed by many leading scientific bodies, including the American Dental association and the Medical association.

Last April, when the issue was brought to a referendum in Appleton, voters stated their desire to retain the chemical in public water by a 2,713-bal-lot margin. The vote was 6,268 to 5,355.

Appleton water has been fluoridated since October, 1950.

No Immediate Prospect for State Building

Commission Votes To Rent Office Space In Green Bay City Hall

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

Madison — About the only clear result of the state building commission's discussions Monday about providing better office accommodations for northeastern Wisconsin district employees and state government officials is that there is no immediate prospect of building a district office building in that section.

The commission isn't sure that it can rent space in the Green Bay city hall, as it finally decided it wanted, but it is plain that it has no appetite for building the central office structure that was originally proposed.

Two reasons are behind the commission's attitude: Pressure for space accommodations is not as keen since the district offices of the highway department have made satisfactory rental arrangements elsewhere.

The commission's money is running out. It has already committed funds for new state offices in Madison, Milwaukee and Wisconsin Rapids, which probably exhaust its resources for the present biennium.

The resolution offering to rent space in the new Green Bay city hall, which has two unused floors, was casually voted.

Austrian Youths Riot Near Famed Cathedral

Vienna — Gangs of leather-jacketed youths terrorized pedestrians around famed St. Stephens cathedral in downtown Vienna Tuesday night, throwing firecrackers at New Year's eve worshippers. Police dispersed several hundred of the youths, called Halbstärke (half-strong), after they blocked traffic and damaged several cars.

Thousands gathered around St. Stephens both for worship and dancing in the streets while Austria's largest bell, ring in waiting to hear the Pummerin, the new year.

Malta Threatens To Seek Freedom

Valletta, Malta — Malta, a key Mediterranean base of the Atlantic alliance, has threatened to seek independence from Britain unless the British do something to stave off feared unemployment.

Complaining that Britain's plans to cut her armed forces peril the jobs of workers at the Royal Navy dockyard in Valletta, Premier Dom Mintoff won the legislative assembly's unanimous approval Monday night of a motion to sever obligations toward Britain and those assumed by its allies.

"This is only a notice to the British of what the Maltese intend to do if the British government's policy toward the Maltese remains unchanged," the 41-year-old premier told an emergency meeting of the assembly.

Malta, a British crown colony since 1814, is the British navy's chief Mediterranean base, Mediterranean headquarters for NATO and the home of a 1,000-man bomber base of the U. S. 6th fleet.

Mintoff said the Americans could be expected to move their base if they found a better site.

He also complained because the United States had rejected his government's request to increase the Maltese emigration quota to the United States from its present 100 persons a year.

Lost Car Keys Unnecessary If Care Used

"Lost car keys must be one of the commonest — and least necessary — frustrations in modern life," says Carol Lane, women's travel director of an oil company. Here are some tips she offers for avoiding the loss:

Agree on one place the keys should be when they are not in use—a hook in the kitchen, drawer by the telephone—and be sure they are there.

Have a spare set of keys, and know where they are, too.

A magnetized metal box will hold the keys under a fender or behind a bumper. Keys taped inside a hub cap are harder to get at, but they're safe enough.

Miss Elizabeth Kline, Kaukauna, sister of the bride, was helped by a would-be driver who does not have your wallet. Don't Leave Keys Behind with the bride.

Copy the serial numbers off the keys and keep them in a safe place. Then if all keys are lost, you can have more made. Never lay your keys inside the luggage compartment, even for a minute. If it's a self-locking trunk, it can be a very tough key-trap.

Take the keys with you every time you leave your car. This discourages thieves and saves you the embarrassment of lock-picking the keys inside.

But what if the keys are locked inside? If a window is open a little, pressure may open it enough to let you reach the door handle. Sometimes a long hook made of a straightened coat hanger can be slipped by the no-draft window to reach the door handle.

If you must break the glass, cautions Miss Lane, "wrap a rock or hammer in cloth and protect your hand with cloth or a glove."

Gordon K. Delzer Claims Bride in Lutheran Rites

Miss Sheila Mae Anderson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Uno Anderson, route 1, Hartland, became the bride of Gordon K. Delzer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Delzer, route 1, New London, at 10 o'clock Saturday morning at Zion Lutheran church, Hartland. The Rev. Frederic Zarling performed the double ring ceremony. "The Lord's Prayer" was sung during the service. The groom were best man and at-

The Expressions of Young Roberta Jean Vander Hyden as she posed for these welcome to the new year pictures duplicates those which probably appeared on the faces of many of her elders as they bid farewell to Old Man 1957 and said a noisy hello to the Babe 1958 last

Marks 99th Birthday On First Day of 1958

Mrs. H. C. Greeley, a resident of Appleton since 1907 and a native of Outagamie county, is celebrating her ninety-ninth birthday anniversary today on the first day of the new year of 1958.

The nonagenarian, the former Florence A. Diener, was born Jan. 1, 1859, to Henry J. and Anna B. Diener, pioneer residents of the town of Ellington. She and a sister and brother, are the survivors of the Diener family of eight daughters and two sons. Her sister, Mrs. Jessie Smock of Madison, is 93 and her brother, Charles H. Diener of Opportunity, Wash., is 86.

Mrs. Greeley spent her early years on her father's farm between Shotton and Stephensonville and later taught school in Outagamie and Shawano counties for four years. In November, 1921, she was married to Hiram C. Greeley and resided on a farm near her parents. In 1898, the Greeleys purchased the Diener farm and lived there for 94 years before moving to Appleton.

Now making her home with her daughters, Mrs. S. A. Laird and Mrs. M. E. Farmer at 839 Washington street, Mrs. Greeley is a member of First Methodist church and the Order of Eastern Star. She has three great-grandchildren, 10 great-grandchildren and five great-great-grandchildren.

Active until Feb. 23, when she suffered a thrombosis, Mrs. Greeley attributes her longevity to the stamina of my rugged ancestors and quiet and moderate living habits. Illness has confined her to bed the last 10 months.

Bride Asks About Notes For Presents

BY EMILY POST

Dear Mrs. Post: My questions deal with thank-you notes for wedding presents. I would like to know first of all what kind of note paper is proper. Would it be correct to use printed "informal," and if so, should my name appear on it as Mrs. John Doe, or Mary Doe? I should also like to know the proper time to send the notes. Should they be sent before the gifts arrive, or should Answer: Write your thank you notes as soon as you possibly can after the presents are received. Those that arrive too late should be answered before the wedding should be acknowledged after you return from your wedding trip. I personally prefer small conventional note-size paper with an address at the top, but there is no objection to using the "foldover" card if you prefer. On informals used after you are married, your name should appear as Mrs. John Doe but the notes would be signed Mary or Mary Doe, depending on how well you know the person written to.

was not at home. She left a note saying that she had been there. A day or so later I went to see her but she was not at home. Should I go to see her again, or is it up to her to make the next move?

Answer: If you left your visiting card or a note when you called the next move is strictly speaking up to her. But because her first call was an act of kindness to you I advise you to go to see her again.

Remarriage Question

Dear Mrs. Post. Is it proper at a second wedding for the bride to walk up the aisle to the strains of the wedding march?

Greet New Year With Resolutions, Keep Them

BY ANGELO PATRI

New Year's day is a high one on the calendar and on the minds of us all, young and old. There is about it something of mystery, of secrets sealed tightly against all curious and wondering minds. Secrets have a way of intriguing us and the coming of a new year, promising 365 days whose happenings nobody can foresee, thrills us to the heart. So, because we cannot unfold its secrets we begin filling those days with wishes and hopes and plans in the form of resolutions.

body knows anyone as well as the person himself, and it is he who best can see himself and know his strengths and weaknesses. So resolutions are quite in order.

The younger generation should be encouraged to make a few good resolutions and be encouraged to keep them. Of course, we elders will set them the example.

A good way to start is by reviewing the past year's deeds. Which were healthy and wise? Which were not? The ones that require a good resolution, and here are a few:

New Year's day is a great day for toasts and that results in a good many drunks. No-body wants that word applied to him, but what else can be said of a person if he drinks again and again until he loses control of himself and becomes an object of public disdain?

What sense is there in the whole thing? What meaning is there in a glass of whisky that makes it a better pledge to friendship and good will than a glass of water, ginger ale, coke, fruit juice?

Young people need to make a few resolutions for betterment: Better health habits, more attention to spiritual needs, more application to school duties and to outside work. The wish must be real and it must be deep if the resolution is to hold. James' law of habits works here. Tell people about the new resolve. Practice it. Never skip an occasion. So, in time, the habit is set and cannot be broken. Happy New Year.

This is a wholesome idea. No-

January Project Meetings

Nutrition to be Stressed in Box Lunch, Party Menu Ideas

County homemakers will be given tips on nutritious box lunches and party menus at January meetings. Center sessions, which will begin Monday at Little Chute, will be led by Mrs. Helen Walker, county home agent.

The need of school children and working people for well balanced lunches will be emphasized at the sessions. The home agent will demonstrate new sandwich fillings, including those suitable for freezer storage, and outline organization of kitchen space for quick lunch box assembly.

Box Lunch Ideas
Mrs. Walker suggests homemakers check the various points when preparing box lunches. A nutritious lunch should include enriched bread, a protein sandwich filling, a crisp vegetable or fruit, a sweet, such as raisins, molasses cookie or custard, and in winter, a hot liquid such as soup.

What to serve at a casual party will be discussed by Mrs. Walker at the center sessions. The home agent will stress simple healthful foods easily prepared to replace the usual rich dessert and coffee menu. Her talk will also touch on the importance of a gracious hostess in creating a successful party.

Several county homemaker clubs have announced meeting dates, hostesses and project leaders during the first part of January. These include the meeting of the Silver Star club at 8 o'clock Thursday evening, Jan. 9, at the home of Mrs. Clifford Kortz. Mrs. Floyd Van Vreede and Mrs. Don Newhouse will lead the topic.

Golden Hill Club on Sugar Bush will meet Jan. 14 at the home of Mrs. John Knapp. Mrs. Alfred Korth and Mrs. John Planagan will present the program.

Mrs. Edwin Wunderlich, route 1, Appleton, will entertain the Willow Hill club Jan. 9. A committee is planning entertainment.

Mrs. Sam Ruppel and Mrs. Allie Sanderfoot will serve as co-hostesses when members of the Medina Career Girls meet at the John Kelly home Jan. 13.

Freedom High School will be the assembly site for the Freedom Friendship club at 8 o'clock Wednesday night, Jan. 15. Mrs. Ted Meulemans and Mrs. Peter Schuh will lead the discussion and Mrs. William

Her fiancé was graduated from Kaukauna High west side. The conductor of the north-bound train, Robert Lazebny, 63, of Milwaukee, collapsed and died an hour later.

The couple is planning a May 6 nuptial ceremony.

Modern Homemakers club will meet Monday evening, Jan. 13, at the home of Mrs. Kenneth Conrad, route 2, Shioc-ton. Mmes. Andy Kettner and Earl Voight, both of route 2, Shioc-ton, will appear on the program.

Members of the Never Idle Homemakers club have planned a session Tuesday afternoon, Jan. 14, with Mrs. Horace Larson, route 1, Hortonville. The lesson will be given by Mrs. Gertrude Sauberlich, route 2, Appleton, and Mrs. Wilbur Lohrenz, route 1, Appleton.

The home of Mrs. Wesley Lohrenz, route 2, Shioc-ton, will be the meeting place of Busy Bees club Tuesday evening, Jan. 14. Mrs. Homer Thompson, route 2, Shioc-ton and Mrs. Edward Rathack, route 1, Hortonville, will be discussion leaders.

South's contract is seven spades, and West leads the spade nine. How can South win 13 tricks against the best defense?

The extremely tricky timing of the winning play is what derailed 90% of the thousand of bridge players who sent in answers to The Bridge World. The only correct solution is:

South takes the first trick—everyone got that right!—and must immediately lead a diamond, North winning as cheaply as possible. Next, the two high trumps must be cashed. East safely discards two diamonds.

At Trick 4, the heart jack is led, and of course East must cover to prevent its winning. South, in turn wins with the heart king and cashes another trump. North discarding the heart deuce. Both West and East can safely discard clubs.

Now, however, when South leads still another trump, West begins to feel a pinch. He cannot let go a heart—South would lead the six to the ace and his nine would be good—so West must relinquish his stopper in either diamonds or clubs. If...

(a) West discards a diamond. North discards a club. South then leads the heart nine, and West must cover. The heart ace and king of clubs are cashed and South lays down the last trump. East is squeezed—he can't hold the high heart (the eight) and also guard North's A-5 of diamonds. (North, of course, has discarded the heart seven).

(b) West discards a club on the next-to-last trump. Thereupon, North discards the diamond five. South leads the heart nine, and again West must cover. The heart ace is cashed, and the club three is led to the king. The last trump now squeezes East between the Handel and Mrs. Harold Van Handel will give the program.

Thank-You Note Simple To Write by the Rules

How to thank the thoughtful and generous for Christmas remembrances is a problem to some young moderns, as this letter indicates:

Q. "I know how to thank my relatives for gifts. Sometimes I call them, sometimes I write to them. But when it comes to boy and girl friends I am at a loss as to how to thank them. Is it necessary to write them, even though you see them often? Should you thank them even though they handed you the gift, and you opened it and showed your appreciation for it right there and then? What do you say in the letter?"

Thank You Note
A. It is always a nice idea to write a thank you note for a gift, even though you've shown appreciation. A boy will admire your thoughtfulness.

When writing a boy a thank you note it is a good idea not to be gushy, as boys do not like effusiveness, as a rule. If you are tempted to write an overwhelming thank you because you were so surprised by the gift, better to write nothing.

A typical thank you for a compact, for instance, may

2 Marines Die in Car-Train Crash

Charlotte, N.C. — Two Camp Lejeune marine sergeants were killed near here today in a crash involving their automobile and two Seaboard Air Line railroad trains, one of them parked.

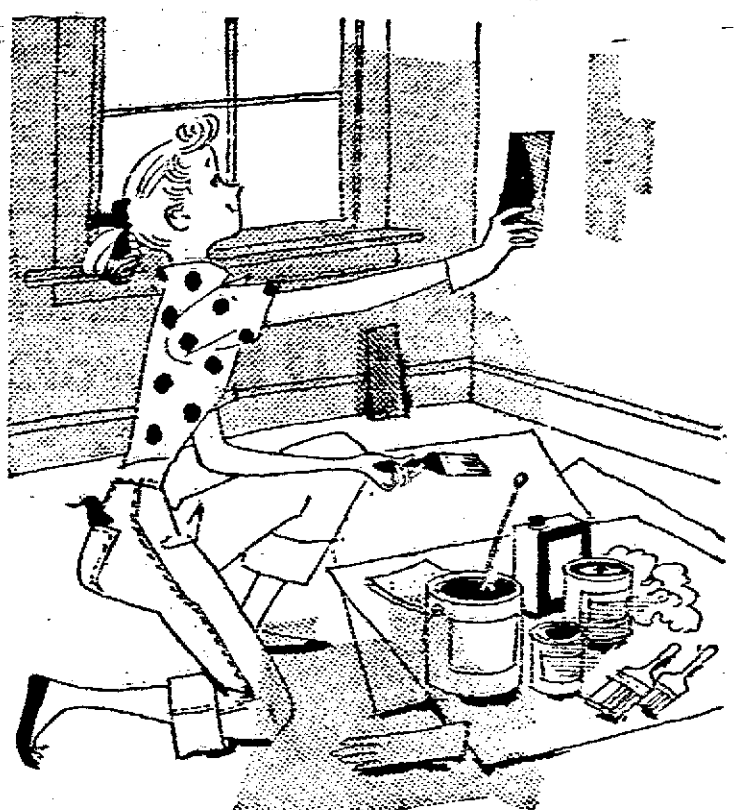

The victims were Sgts. Clifton H. Jackson, 22, of Perry, Ga., and Billy R. Tucker, 23, whose home address was not available immediately.

Police said their vehicle crashed into a train that was parked on a side track at a crossing, awaiting the passing of an east-bound train.

C. E. Craddock, engineer of the second train, said he was traveling at about 25 miles an hour when he approached the wreckage with the men and their car pinned beneath the train. He said he was unable to avoid crashing into the wreckage.

Why Color Looks Different on the Walls

Why does paint the same color on the wall where it goes, because walls in the same room are at different angles and catch the light differently. If there's no way to take a big enough sample of the sample as you hold it, or as it lies on a flat surface. But wall color is never seen that way. Walls are vertical, not flat, and light affects a vertical surface very differently from the way it affects a flat surface.

To make sure the wall color will not be a disappointment, look at it the way it will always be seen. Try it on the walls of whatever effort she has put into her gift. A handmade gift needs special praise as any one who has put effort into a project that involves personal time wants to feel it is appreciated. Relatives are more in need of thank you notes than anyone, perhaps, and they look for them, as older people consider the thank you note a sign of good manners. Even if you have thanked them profusely, sit down and write a little note that will emphasize your thoughtfulness even more.

Mayor Names January as Dimes Month

Mayor Robert Roemer has proclaimed Jan. 3 as March of Dimes 20th anniversary day and has asked support of the annual polio drive to be conducted throughout the month. His proclamation reads:

"Whereas the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis on Jan. 3, 1938, will have completed 20 years of magnificent service to the people of Appleton and of the nation, and

"Whereas in the period of two decades the efforts of this great voluntary organization have led directly to development of the Salk vaccine and to the protection of millions of Americans against crippling polio, and

"Whereas through the support of the American people in the March of Dimes the National Foundation has brought the blessings of modern science and medicine to bear on the misfortunes of all those stricken with the disabling disease, and

"Whereas thousands of those already stricken by polio continue to look to the March of Dimes for assistance in their desperate fight for useful lives, "Therefore I do proclaim Jan. 3, 1958, to be March of Dimes 20th anniversary day and urge all citizens to join in honoring the national foundation by giving generously to the self, your home, gifts, bazaar items. Lonely adults outnumbered youngsters writing to Santa by action of answers and letters 40 to 37, he reported, adding: from other lonely persons, 40 “I never knew there were so many lonely people.”

Family Room

On the spur of the moment they'll stage a race between new turtles Slowpoke, Spider, Kent and Lee, pounding the floor of the family room to prove their pets. “They never ask what to do, but—” their mother says as she watches the fun.

For this reason the comfortable family room has been almost entirely turned over to the boys. In it are a television set, a large 2-piece davenport and objects suited for wear and hard to break.

All four boys share and sympathize with each other whenever the occasion arises. When Tommy was burned with some water boiling for coffee Friday, Dougy asked his parents indignantly, “Why don't you drink milk?”

And though Christmas with triplets means three times as many broken toys, it's three times as much fun, too.

Rural School Construction for 1957 Reaches $1,050,000 Peak

Neenah — The year 1957 was one marked with rural school construction in the northern half of Winnebago county. Plans begun in past years were carried through to completion or authorization was made for construction in the early part of 1958. Total estimated cost for all the work comes to over $1,050,000.

Work is now underway at the Lakeview and Tullar schools in the town of Neenah as both districts are taking steps to meet the rapid growth of the rural areas around Neenah-Menasha.

Lakeview school district has been studying the future enrollment trends for more than a year and in late October began construction of a $210,000 addition to its present structure.

The new building will contain six classrooms and a west wing which will house a gymnasium and multi-purpose room. Completion is expected by late spring.

The addition is being financed by a 20-year bond issue. Approximately 4½ acres were purchased until the early hours this morning.

Winnesh County crews also worked through the night to clear the highways and have the main roads in good condition and this morning were working on the side roads.

The new Clayton school district in the town of Clayton expects to move into its new school building on Highway 45 within the next few months. The pupils now are housed in several 1-room schools in the districts which in 1956 consolidated into the new district.

Bids for the new school came in at $102,400 and work on the 60 by 152 building, which includes four classrooms and a multi-purpose room, was begun in late summer. Total cost for the addition, including fence, culvert, well, bus and fees, is estimated at $127,000.

Construction crews now are working on the interior, much of which already is completed.

Winnesh County Community Neenah citizens played and school district had the largest year as it built an addition to its Central school of six classrooms and a multi-purpose room and constructed a new school at Winchester which also has six classrooms and multi-purpose room.

When bids were taken, they were taken with the alternate of including a kindergarten. The cost to include a kindergarten at both sites was too

Acquisitions Mark 1957 for Twin City Industrial Firms

Marathon Merged With Canco;
K-C Adds Schweitzer, Canada Mill

BY ALLAN EKVALL
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Menasha — Forecasts made a year ago by corporation executives as to what 1957 would be like were borne out during the year. Those warnings were that the year would be one marked with increased competition and a possible net earnings decline.

Another word that characterizes what 1957 was to business here is the word "Acquisition." To Marathon corporation employees it meant the merger of their company into the larger American Can company to result in what probably is the country's largest manufacturer of packages and containers for the food industry.

To those at Kimberly-Clark corporation, the word reflects the expansion of their company through acquiring other firms and extending its operations in this country and abroad.

While some firms reported an increase in sales — though coupled with a drop in net earnings because of increased production costs — one firm ended the year with about a half million drop in sales and lower earnings. That company was Menasha Wooden Ware where one of its largest customers discontinued operations and another was lost, temporarily it hopes, to a competing firm.

Bergstrom Paper company reported increased sales and earnings during the year and attributed this to its rebuilding of its two paper machines during 1956 and other improvements which had cost the firm $3 million over a 2-year period.

Builds New Office

The company moved into its new $200,000 office building on Highway 41 during the year and in December announced plans for an addition to its finishing plant to house the safety paper operations which were being moved here from Waupaca because of an insufficient supply of water at the site where it had planned to build.

Cost of this addition is expected to approach the half million dollar mark. Construction will begin this spring with completion toward the latter part of the year.

In reflecting on the year, N. H. Bergstrom, company president, declared in a letter to stockholders this fall that "the year 1957 may be by far the best year in the history of the company. . . . The impact of increases in wages, freight and other costs during the current year has been felt, but has been offset somewhat by increased efficiencies."

The order backlog has not improved, he mentioned, but this is a condition prevalent in the paper industry. "We are pleased to report that, with the exception of a few 5-day weeks in our finishing plant, all employees have had the advantages of full-time employment."

In the field of acquisition Kimberly-Clark corporation in February entered into an agreement to acquire all of the capital stock of Peter J. Schweitzer, Inc., of New York, largest manufacturers in the

Slippery Roads Contribute to Two Accidents

2 People Taken To Hospital in Menasha Crashes

Menasha — Slippery streets were a contributing factor to two separate accidents in Menasha early this morning and minor injuries to two people.

The first accident occurred at 12:52 this morning when a car driven by Norman L. Gilbert, 20, 109 Madison street, Menasha, slid into a Chicago and North Western train at the crossing on Garfield avenue.

The entire front end of the car was damaged and Gilbert and a passenger, Mrs. Robert Gilbert, 928½ Second street, were taken to Theda Clark hospital by the Neenah ambulance. Gilbert, who was bruised, was released from the hospital this morning while Mrs. Gilbert, who received a cut when her head hit the windshield, is still at the hospital.

A second accident was reported at 1:43 this morning when a car driven by Ronald S. Talarczyk, 20, 39 Lisbon avenue, Menasha, went out of control and struck a telephone pole in front of 366 Plank road.

Talarczyk told police he was blinded by lights of an oncoming car and, when he put on his brakes, lost control of the car on the icy street and slid into the pole.

First Baby of Year Honor Still Awaits Winner

Neenah — No baby showed up to claim the honor of being first Twin City baby of the year by 9:30 this morning at either Theda Clark hospital here or St. Elizabeth's hospital at Appleton.

Two Neenah parents though got their extra income tax exemption Tuesday, both at St. Elizabeth's hospital. Theda Clark reported no births yesterday or this morning.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Nickasch, 824 Zernlock avenue, Neenah.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. James Best, 1153 Higgins avenue, Neenah. This one was born at 7:55 in the evening and was the last birth of the year recorded at St. Elizabeth's hospital.

Both hospitals said there were expectations that they would have a candidate for the first baby of the year award for Neenah-Menasha soon.

Great Progress Noted In Menasha During '57

Adoption of City Zoning Maps, Renumbering Of Houses to Aid City's Future Advancement

BY HERB VAN DRIEL
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Menasha — "Progress" is the one word that denotes the happenings in the city of Menasha during 1957.

A number of distinct changes or was made a full time job which came about last year and Voters approved the change by a 2,463 to 2,024 vote in April.

Progress of Menasha includes establishing the mayor's and adoption of an official city position as a full time job, the map and new city zoning map renumbering of Menasha were steps in correcting major errors which had occurred since homes were last numbered and the maps were last adopted.

Began In May

The renumbering of houses began in May and will continue into 1958. Major changes are being made in the street's running north and south with a few changes to be made in the east, west streets.

Another of the steps in the future planning of the city map was adopted. The new map shows possible street extensions into the town of Menasha and also the extra territorial jurisdiction rights of the city.

The map forestalls the possibility of any building blocking the roadway of a future city street and also provides long range planning in that land where future Menasha streets will go will be preserved.

About two weeks ago another ordinance of importance was approved, an ordinance calling for 46 changes in zoning classification within the city. The zoning changes were in the making for 10 years and the revised ordinance now gives the city a master plan for zoning.

Another important happening was the start of construction of the Clovis elementary school in May. The new school, which will cost $650,000, will alleviate the overcrowded conditions in the city's present schools and will be the first new school built in the city in about 18 years.

Meters Installed

Something new was also added to the city in May when 200 parking meters were installed in the downtown business district for the first time in the city's history.

The meters, purchased on a one year trial basis, according to Mayor R. G. DuCharme were necessary because all neighboring cities were equipped with meters and that the city needed more space for off street parking which could be purchased with the meter revenues.

A turnabout from 1956 occurred last year when the city council reversed an earlier decision and rezoned land owned by the late Mayor William Jensen to a commercial classification to allow the Red Owl company to build a new supermarket on the site.

Since the rezoning of the land, located along Harding street near Wilson street, the Red Owl company has taken up the option on the property and is expected to start building early in 1958.

Differences were also prevalent during the year, especially between the city council and school board. A number of times during the year, the aldermen refused to approve school board minutes and at other times objected to things the board was doing.

Other Happenings

In April, 1957, the council passed an ordinance increasing the number of board of education members from five to seven and Ted R. Neely and Harold Haberman were named to the new posts.

Among the other important happenings were approval of several new assessor's maps; an ordinance to make all street improvements within the city subject to assessments, and the taking of the first step towards the future construction of a storm sewer across Ninth street from Lake Winnebago to Lake Butte des Morts when a company was hired to make borings and tests.

Service Activities Occupy 1957 Year Of Church Women

BY CAROL RICHARDSON

Late in the year petitions were circulated to make the position of city attorney an elective one. The petitions had not been turned in as of the first of the year.

Menasha's $30 tax rate of 1957 was also retained for 1958 by the council and Menasha city employees were given a 4 per cent salary raises for 1958 compared to the 5 per cent raises they were given in 1957.

Purchase of 35 per cent of the capital stock of Irving Pulp and Paper, Ltd., for $3.4 million in Canadian funds was announced by Kimberly-Clark president, John R. Kimberly, in November.

While net sales were up, the increased revenue did not produce additional net earnings because of higher labor, raw material and distribution costs. "Demand for all major products continues at a high level, requiring full operation of the corporations production facilities," the company president declared in his report for the third quarter of the year.

Marathon Merger
The merger of Marathon corporation into American can company, which was approved by stockholders of both companies during December, ended several months of rumors about the possible merger of "Tall Houses in Winter," Gil-Marathon with various competitors. First announcement of a "The Land of the Mid-night Sun" by William Emerson, and "Colonial Living" by Edwin Tunis.

Two delegates from the Women's Missionary society of St. Paul's Lutheran church attended the state convention of missionary societies in Milwaukee in October. They were Mrs. Charles Erickson and Mrs. Theodore Delrow. The latter circle made baby clothing for Lutheran welfare and distributed Christmas cookies to Twin City shut-ins.

Youth from churches throughout the area attended the area rally in October at St. Paul's. The Luther league sponsored the event.

At the First Congregational church, the Women's fellowship decorated a mitten tree which was donated to Friendly service, a mission group, and in October sponsored the Winnebago Association of Women's fellowships rally. About 140 members from 18 churches attended the event. Outgoing officers included Mrs. Carl Anderson, president, and Mrs. R. H. Falkner, secretary-treasurer. In addition to their program of social events, the Pilgrim fellowship had a series of talks on "Inter-Faith Understanding," "Social Relationships" and "Social Problems."

Bicycle Trips
A missionary to India, Dr. H. A. Feierabend, was the featured speaker at a fall meeting of the Afternoon guild of Immanuel's Evangelical and Reformed church. Several bicycle trips were taken as part of the program of the Senior Youth group of the church. The Women's auxiliary of St. Thomas Episcopal church sponsored a holiday fair in October and during Thanksgiving vacation, the youth group attended a conference at Christ church in Green Bay. A semi-formal dinner dance was held by the Catholic Youth organization of St. Margaret Mary Catholic church in February and the Sanctuary society sponsored a food and gift sale. A bazaar and chicken dinner for the benefit of CYO activities was sponsored by the CYO parents. The social guild presented a fashion show of fall styles in September.

February saw the Couples club of the First Methodist church sponsoring a mardi gras and the Ever Ready Bible class observed its golden jubilee year with a celebration and history of the group. Regular weekly meetings were initiated by the young adult group and the Women's Society of Christian Service were hosts to a sub-district meeting of the Appleton district in September. The same group decorated a Christmas tree with baby gifts for Korean children. A week-end retreat at Camp Byron near Fond du Lac was held by the youth fellowship in September when they formulated plans for the year.

High School Party
Groups at the First Presbyterian church had an active year of meetings and events. The young adult group, organized last year, continued its program with one social and month and the Faith and Fellowship club sponsored a harvest party for all Twin City high school students.

The Women's society entertained foreign students who attend Lawrence college and Oshkosh State college in their homes for Thanksgiving and Christmas. Mrs. Carl Geisler was in charge of the program. Clothing gifts were sent to the children of An Hoong orphanage in Seoul, Korea by the same group.

Several speakers, including a Chicago rabbi who spoke on some common viewpoints of Judaism and Christianity, were featured at the monthly supper meetings of the Men's club and the Friends class heard Miss Antoinette Merrill, director of volunteer activities at Winnebago State hospital.

Well, maybe that's exaggerating it a little bit, because there isn't really a space with your name on it. But by golly, John's parking lot is so spacious and roomy, that no matter when you come out shopping (even at peak shopping periods like Friday night or Saturdays) you're going to get the feeling that John's surely must have reserved a spot for your car, because there's always plenty of room to park.

The family will love it too, since you don't have to walk a block or two from the car to the store. John's parking lot is right next to the store! And the parking area is so smoothly black-topped and well-lighted at night. Yes, it's a treat — shopping John's!

Neenah's 2nd Perfect Record Highlights 1957 Grid Season

St. Mary's Closes With 5-3
While Menashans Post 4-3-1

Neenah — An unprecedented second straight undefeated football season and Mid-Eastern conference crown for Neenah, by a big margin, highlighted the fall activity, not only in the Fox Cities but in the whole Fox Valley area as well during 1957.

The grid sport, which lost a bit of its old-time "glitz" for the second time in three seasons, had two games postponed because of the flu, Asian or otherwise. In 1955, polo was the bad actor.

But getting back to the brighter side of the picture, Coach Tom Porter, who has yet to lose a football game at the Neenah helm, guided his squad to eight straight wins. The Rockets have 17 straight wins over the last three seasons and they are unbeaten in their last 19 starts, including one tie.

Turn Back Jays
Included among the eight victories was a 49-6 triumph over Menasha in their annual meeting, the widest margin in the history of the series which began in 1896. The season came to a glorious close with a 50-20 verdict over Shawano in the makeup of the postponed game.

St. Mary's, in its first season under Coach Vince Steff, also came up with a winning record, closing with 4-3-1. The highlight of its season was a 7-7 opening game deadlock with Appleton, which went on to capture its second straight Fox River Valley conference title.

Neenah's jayvees added four more wins and are now unbeaten in their last 20 starts. Menasha's reserves had a 1-3 record while St. Mary's didn't have a jayvee team.

At the frosh level, Neenah won its last four after losing the first two while Menasha had a 3-2-1 slate. St. Mary's concluded a highly successful frosh season, winning six of seven with the only loss coming to Roosevelt of Fond du Lac.

The Neenah-Menasha freshman game (won by the Rockets 21-20) produced an oddity in that all the points were scored in the second quarter, the first 21 by the Rockets and the 20 by Menasha following with its 20.

Field First Team
St. Patrick Grade school field ed its first team and won one, tied one and lost five.

Resume Action in Volleyball Wheel
Menasha — The Menasha Fraternals Volleyball league will resume play Thursday night, after a layoff of a two weeks with the fourth set of games scheduled at Butte des Morts gym.

First Congregational will collide with the Lakeview Vagabonds at 7 o'clock and the former battles the Christophers in the 7:45 match. Whiting Baptist and McHugh Sepuacs are matched in the 8:30 test.

Defending champion Congregational leads with a 5-1 record. McHugh Septic has 7-5. Christophers 5-4. Lakeview 2-4 and Whiting Baptist 2-7.

Golf Still Popular Summertime Activity For Area Residents

Neenah — Golf again proved popular with Twin Cities residents during the summer months with many leagues and weekend links men in action.

The championship of the annual Neenah-Menasha Amateur Golf tournament, sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce, went to Jim McDonald by defeating Ed O'Brien. Three Paul Stordock and "Sam" Hantime winner Charlie Steingraber didn't defend.

Steingraber again topped Arne Zuehlke had a 730 in a honors in the Ridgeway club match game at Lakewood this championship meet. Veteran fall greenkeeper Mark Brande was honored for 21 years of service at Lakewood.

Bergstrom Paper, Gilbert Paper, Kimberly-Clark and Marathon sponsored golf leagues and many firms and organizations held annual jamborees.

Collegiate activity involving current or former Twin City residents was headlined by Jerry Thompson's unbeaten season at Ripon. The former Neenah high school coach, who was on Thanksgiving day announced that he would enter the ministry next June, will speak at the annual Neenah Quarterback club dinner in January.

In other collegiate action, George Hightdudis was named captain and most valuable player at Oshkosh State and Andy Wittman, Tom Malchow and Bob Kerrigan also were regulars. Bob Osiewalski played an important role in Ripon's perfect campaign; Evan Wichmann captained Whitewater State. Vic Stenson saw action at Miami, Tony Koehn played at Stevens Point, Bill Millar was awarded a letter at Michigan Tech. Bill Volkman was the most valuable back and Charlie Thompson co-captain at Lawrence and Tom Wiesner was selected captain of the University of Wisconsin freshman squad.

Keglers Mark Banner Campaign; Women Star

Norma Funk-Percy Resch Cop 1st in State Tourney at Beloit; Pro Stars Appear Here

Menasha — Another banner year was enjoyed by Twin City bowling enthusiasts, especially the women, during 1957.

The state women's tournament, held here in 1956, moved on to Beloit, but a pair of Twin Cities, Percy Resch and Norma Funk, came back with first place in the class A doubles with a 1,070 total.

Two tournaments, the Central Fox Valley Women's and the state Lutheran meet, will be held on Twin City lanes this winter.

During the 1956-57 season, which closed in mid-April, Twin City women kegglers jolted 13 national honor counts. Those coming in 1957 included Percy Resch 605 and 616, Dorothy Allen 606, Mary Collier 603 and 600, Norma Redlin 623 and Norma Funk 603.

Two Men's Counts
During the first half of the 1957-58 season, only three have been rolled. Dorothy Allen posted a whopping 654 count and Mary Collier had 627 and 602 scores.

Men found the pins a little harder to tip and only two honors were registered during the tail half of the 1956-57 campaign. Clarence Toeppler rolled a 705 in the city tournament.

They started off with a bang, hitting a 711 in the City league on Sept. 3. Jack Asmus rolled a 701 two days later and Herb Kramer a 721 on Sept. 17.

Tourney Winners
Two other Neenah kegglers, featuring Ed O'Brien, Three Paul Stordock and "Sam" Hantime winner Charlie Steingraber, didn't defend.

Recreational Sports Show Big Interest

Skating, Archery, Volleyball Draw Many Participants

Menasha — In addition to the big sport, those which took the major headlines throughout the year, numerous other recreational activities were enjoyed during 1957. Several like golf, yachting, swimming are covered in other articles.

Marbles Meet
The Menasha Fraternal Volleyball league, which operated with three teams for two seasons, has been increased to five. The annual Menasha marbles tournament again was popular with the youngsters and Barry Conway won his second city title and advanced to the state meet at Milwaukee.

The Twin City Rod and Gun club meetings were again well attended and the Winnebago Archers were accepted in the Central Wisconsin Field Archery league and carried off many honors.

Archers Cop Honors
In the Fox Valley indoor season, Beth Knabenbauer, Gary Van Harpen and Ron Knabenbauer won championships while Winnebago winners in the broadhead shoot at Necedah were Eleanor Hauke and Ron Knabenbauer. The local club won the shooting trophy at the Milwaukee Sports show for the second straight year.

A traditional league entry, the Menasha Falcons, asked for and was granted a year's leave of absence at an early down state honors for Coach league meeting last spring.

Neenah, Menasha Nines Capture Baseball Crowns During 1957 Play

Menasha — The return to the top of the Fox River Valley Baseball league by the Macs was the big news on the baseball front in Neenah and Menasha last spring and summer.

The Macs, again managed by Edward "Butch" Konetzke, won both rounds of play for the undisputed crown sans a playoff. They had to work a little harder for first half honors as they were forced to best Kimberly in a playoff game and come from behind to do that.

The Menashans had been stripped of their title by Little Chute in the summer of 1956. While they did better in league play, the Macs didn't make the state tournament for the first time in four years, bowing to Little Chute, the eventual state runnerup, in the semi-finals at Clintonville after leading the Chutes 7-1. They closed with an overall 23-7-1 mark. The top pitching effort was "Bud" Koehnke's no-hitter over Harrison.

The doubles duo of Tom Zeu and Dick Westphal coped and was granted a year's leave of absence at an early down state honors for Coach league meeting last spring. Neenah's fine high school team members were Ed Meyer team closed with a 14-2 record and won its second straight Mid-Eastern conference title. Neenah, Extension Both Unbeaten; Zephyr Quintet Captures Third in State Tourney

Neenah — Twin City basketball teams and individual performers made outstanding marks on the sports scene in 1957 and current conditions seem to indicate that 1958 will bring many more honors.

As 1957 closes, Neenah is riding along on an eight-game winning string, the Menasha Extension has a 7-0 record and St. Mary's has a 5-1 record.

The Zephyrs closed the 1956-57 schedule with a 29-7 record. Menasha had 13-8 (it is 3-4 for the first half of '57-'58) and Neenah recorded 11 wins in 20 starts. The Jays and Rockets split two games during the regular schedule.

Jays Down Rockets
In tournament play, Menasha dumped the Rockets 72-49, but fell to Oshkosh 66-63 in the subregional finals. St. Mary's won the title in the Little Chute regional by besting St. John in the finals and then went on to claim third place in the state meet at West De Pere. The Zephyrs defeated Madison Edge-La Crosse Aquinas in the finals. Aquinas, coached by John Hyland of Menasha, knocked St. Mary's out of the meet.

The Winneconne addition was opened to use this fall and the new school at Winchester will be put into operation when school resumes Monday. Finish- ing touches and moving opera- tions now are underway. The project is being financed by a $325,000 bond issue.

Overall size of the Winches- ter school is 227 by 108 feet while that of the Winneconne addition is 189 by 117 feet. A kitchen forms part of the Win- chester school and is located off the multi-purpose room.

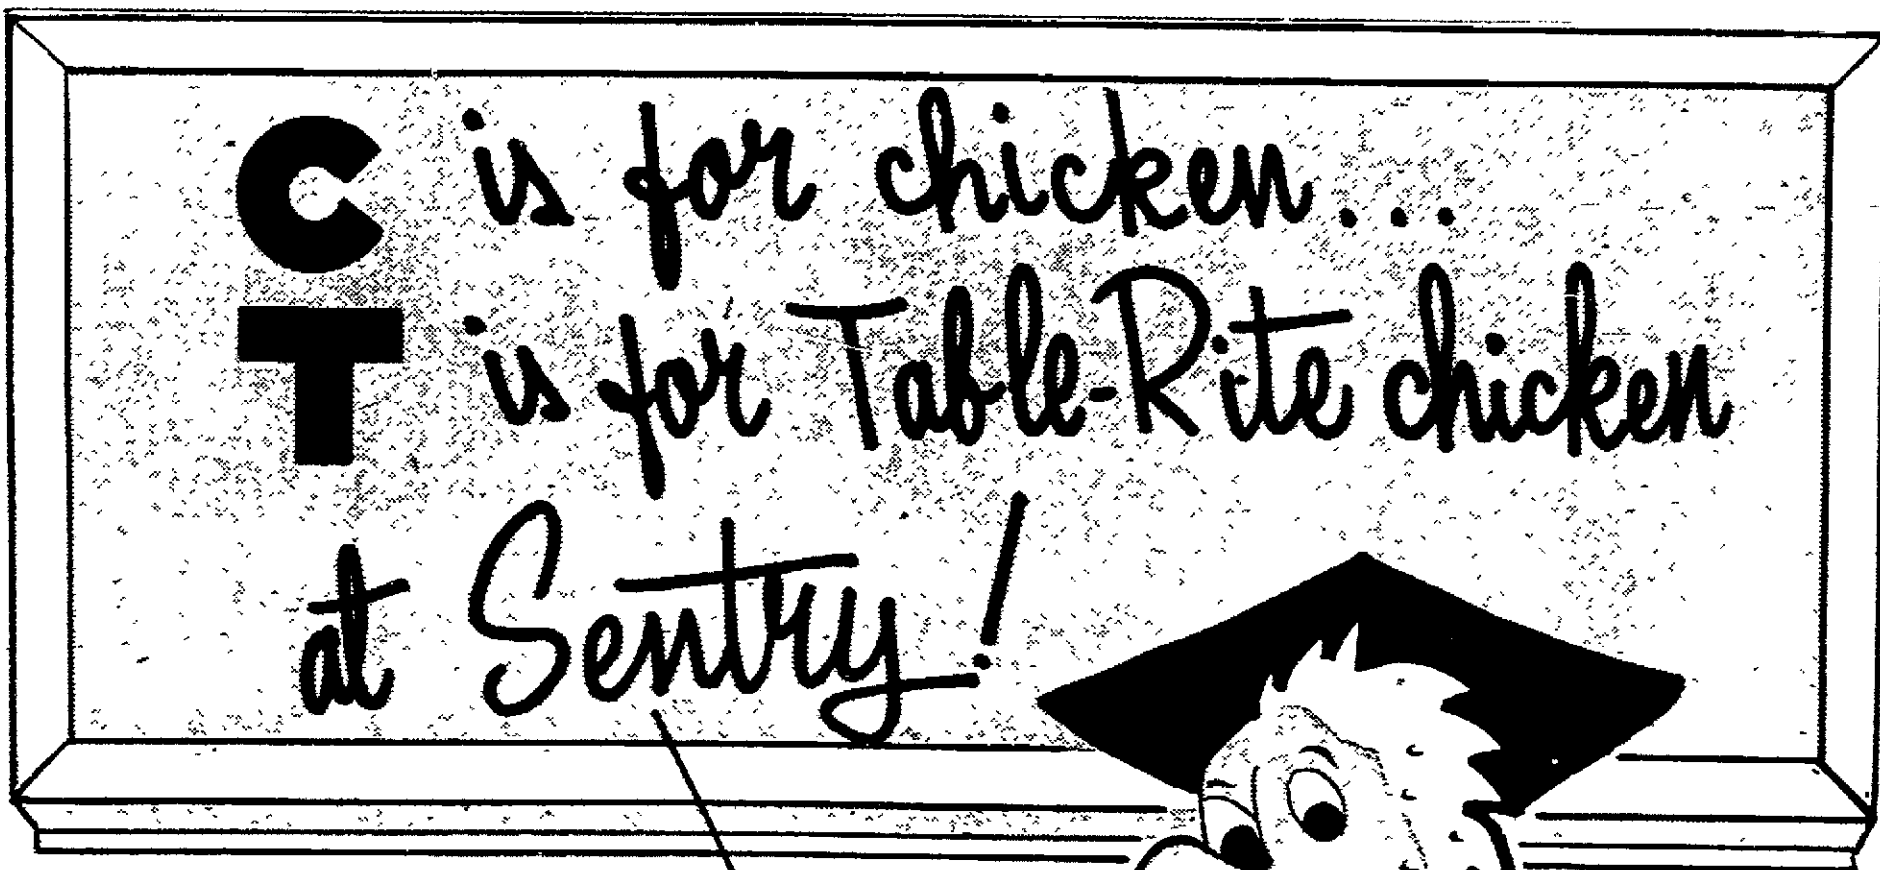

Spring Road school district voters in the town of Menasha in December authorized con- struction of a $310,000 addition to the present school. It will add eight classrooms, a kinder- garten room and a room for handicapped children.

Will Take Bids
Bids will be taken early next year for the construction and it is hoped the building may be completed by the opening of school in the fall.

Gillingham school district just completed its new school late in 1956 and held open house in the building in Jan- uary.

Completion of the projects now underway will make the rural area in the northern end of the county among the best equipped for schools of any area in the state. New schools, most of them built during the post-war years, or additions to fine brick structures built just before the war, will house al- most all of these rural school pupils.

Heads, Tails of Comets Differ Greatly in Size

BY RAMON COFFMAN
The word "comet" came to us from the Latin and Greek languages. The original meaning was "hair," "hairy" or "long-haired." The name refers to the fact that large comets have big heads and tails. The material which appears around the head and which streams behind might be compared to long, silvery hair. Extra-large comets visit the sky a few times in a century.

The period between such visits may be many years.
Q. Are there any comets without tails?
A. Astronomers often see comets without tails. They can tell that they are comets only because of the orbits.
Most short-period comets are without tails, or else have short tails. A tail one million miles long is considered "short."

Q. What is the length of a long one?
A. When a comet's tail is 15 or 20 million miles long it is of middle size. When it has a length of from 75 million to 100 million miles it really is long.
Q. Does the tail remain the same size?
A. A comet's tail keeps losing length as the comet speeds away from the sun. Powerful telescopes are used to follow it until the tail is out of sight.
Q. What is the tail of a comet?
A. It is a gaseous trail which comes out of the head of a comet. It suggests smoke but differs from the smoke of a coal or wood fire.
Q. How large is the head of a comet?
A. The heads, often called the "comas," differ widely in size. A few comets have had heads the size of the sun. The heads of other comets are smaller than the planet Mercury. There is much more to say about the head of a comet, and I shall take up the subject again next time.

Fox Cities' Entry Into 3-I Loop Tops '57 Sports News

Neenah Tennis, Bowling Units Win State Titles; 3 Schools Dominate Their Conferences

BY MIKE DREW
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

The dramatic return of professional baseball to the Fox Cities — an unexpected late-1957 development — headlined an exciting and important year in area athletics.

When, on Nov. 24, baseball's venerable Three-I league, the nation's oldest Class B circuit, granted the Fox Cities a franchise, it brought the entire area its own pro team for the first time.

The month-early "Christmas present" culminated five weeks of study, discussion and negotiations.

A New Franchise

When the Class D Wisconsin State League disbanded after the 1953 season, the Appleton Papermakers—once a strong, fan-attracting operation—were track team finished second in no more. The entirely new Fox Cities franchise will represent the state high school meet. It was the communities of Neenah, Appleton, Kimberly, Kaukauna, Little Chute and Combined Locks as well as Appleton.

The first news that the Three-I league was interested in establishing sister franchises here and in Green Bay came Oct. 17 when circuit president Hal Totten met with a small group in Green Bay. After thorough investigation of the prospects for success, Green Bay and the Fox Cities center and defensive linebacker, made the all-state football team.

Veteran Appleton Butte des Morts pro Everett Leonard, was named the Wisconsin Professional Golfers association's 1957 "man of the year."

Two area teams just missed winning state championships.

Merchants Reach Finals

In baseball, the Little Chute Merchants reached the finals of the Wisconsin state semi-pro tournament before losing to the powerful Milwaukee Falls.

The battling Merchants, champions of the Fox Valley District tournament, pulled several upsets in the state meet after ending the Menasha Maes' 3-year reign as district tournament titlists.

The Appleton High school track team finished second in no more. The entirely new Fox Cities franchise will represent the state high school meet. It was the communities of Neenah, Appleton, Kimberly, Kaukauna, Little Chute and Combined Locks as well as Appleton.

The New London Junior Legion baseball team was unable to successfully defend its 1956 state tournament championship, but made the tourney field again, finishing third.

Wayne Huebner twirled a 2-hitter and a 7-hitter as the club won two of its three state meet games.

Finishing Touches

Appleton, Neenah and Hortonville High schools used the first portion of 1957 to put the finishing touches on domination in their respective conferences during the 1956-57 school year.

Neenah's Rockets won the football, baseball, track and tennis diadems in the Mid-Eastern conference. All eight M-E schools participate in the first three sports, just four in tennis competition.

Two Big Victories Put Mayor in Golf Spotlight

BY HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
Of The Associated Press

Dick Mayer, a handsome, mild-mannered professional, became the take-charge guy in a golf year which saw an unusual number of young and little-known players come to the front.

Mayer won only two tournaments in 1957, the U. S. Open championship and the Tam O'Shanter World championship. They were enough to put him far in front of the other professionals.

The Open victory, which Mayer gained by beating Dr. Cary Middlecoff, 72-79, in an 18-hole playoff at Inverness after the tall Tennesseean had overtaken him on the last two rounds, was particularly rewarding. Three years before Mayer had blown a chance to win the open when a spectator's screech spoiled his drive on the seventy-second hole and Dick had begun to think he wouldn't get another chance.

The $30,000 prize money in the Tam, which he won by a single stroke over Sam Snead, made Mayer the leading money winner of the year with official tournament earnings of $65,835. Two of the busiest pros on the circuit trailed Mayer on the money list. They were Doug Ford, winner of the Masters, the Western Open and Los Angeles Open, and Dow Finsterwald, who has finished in the money in 60 consecutive tournaments.

Lionel (the kid brother) Herbert, a swarthy Louisiana native, won the PGA championship in another big surprise, besting Finsterwald in the final. After this tournament proved a losing proposition after the early elimination of most "name" players, the PGA changed its format from match play to a 72-hole medal tournament for 1958.

The 1957 pro tour also saw such players as Arnold Palmer, Ken Venturi, Paul Harney and Billy Casper to prominence. But it was a bad one for the U. S. in international competition. Great Britain won the Ryder Cup for the first time since 1933, by 7-4. The Americans collapsed in singles competition.

Robbins Wins
On the amateur side, a lean 25-year-old Air Force lieutenant from Memphis, Tenn., Hillman Robbins, Jr., won the National amateur championship after helping the U. S. to an 8-3 victory over the British in the Walker cup matches. Robbins turned back Dr. Frank (Bud) Taylor, a 40-year-old California dentist, 5 and 4, in the final.

Don Essig III, 18, of Indianapolis, and JoAnn Gunderson, 17, of Seattle became two of the youngest national champions on record by winning the public links and women's amateur titles.

The U. S. women's open championship ended in a notable rhabarb when Hawaii's Jackie Pung was disqualified after posting a winning score because her card showed an incorrect figure for one hole on the last round. The title went to Betsy Rawls. Louis Suggs took the ladies PGA championship and the leading money winner among the women pros was, as usual, Patty Berg.

Braves Go All the Way, and Two Of Their Rivals Move to Coast

BY ED WILKS

Major league baseball moved West in 1957. The New York Giants fled to San Francisco, the Brooklyn Dodgers skipped to Los Angeles—and the world championship shifted to Milwaukee.

The lure of modern stadiums and TV dollars — got the Dodgers and Giants. Both had wanted that new stadium were essential to keep them in New York. But when property problems came up with each site request, even Rockefeller money couldn't stop the move West.

The latest moves in the westward shift, begun by the Boston Braves and continued by the St. Louis Browns and Philadelphia Athletics, left Milwaukee, Cincinnati, Pittsburgh and Philadelphia as "eastern" teams on the overhauled National league map.

First Pennant
The Braves were still a western club, however, when they snared Milwaukee's first pennant and then added the world championship by defeating the New York Yankees in a 7-game World Series.

Lew Burdette was the hero of the classic. The fidgety right-hander, working with only two days rest because ace Warren Spahn was weak from a bout with the flu, collared his second consecutive shutout and third victory with a 5-0 masterpiece in the decisive seventh game.

Spahn was the big man on the mound for the Braves in the pennant race. The southpaw won 21, his eighth season of 20 or more, which tied a major league record.

Hank Aaron was the man with the bat for the Braves. When Henry slumped, so did the club. After hitting only 220 as Milwaukee teetered on the brink of another collapse and saw an 81-game edge dwindle to 24 on Sept. 15, Aaron batted .300 in the next seven games and the Braves won 'em all — clinching the flag on his 2-out, most serious of which hit Heri 2-run homer in the eleventh score. The young lefty fireball that defeated second place St. Louis, 4-2.

Injuries Play Part

The American league race, expected to be over neat and quick with the Yankees once more in command, stayed a race until June 30, when the Yankees took over for keeps. They couldn't shake the Chicago White Sox, however, until early September, finally clinching the flag on the same day the Braves locked up their pennant.

Injuries were as much a part of both races as were batting averages and pitching records. The Cleveland Indians wound up sixth for the first time since 1916 because of injuries, the

FBI Apprehends Man Accused of Perjury In Suit Against Braves

Chicago — A carpenter accused of perjury in a $75,000 damage suit he filed against the Milwaukee Braves Baseball club, surrendered to the FBI Monday.

He was identified as Frank struck Dombrowski in the face, Dombrowski, 44, who was breaking his jaw, nose and named in an indictment returned Dec. 23 by a federal grand jury in Milwaukee. The indictment charged he supplied false spot in the grandstands.

Trio of Outstanding 3-Year-Old Colts Produced During 1957

BY JOHN CHANDLER

Of The Associated Press

Thoroughbred racing in 1957 produced three outstanding 3-year-old colts in Bold Ruler, Gallant Man and Round Table, along with the usual quota of thrills, disappointments and arguments involving champion-ships.

There was no triple crown champion, but the first race of the series produced a rhabarb when Willie Shoemaker, riding Bold Ruler, stood up in the saddle and misjudged the finish of the Kentucky derby. The Calumet farm's Iron Liege won by a nose.

Wheatley stable's Bold Ruler finished fourth in the derby, but whipped Iron Liege in the Preakness, middle jewel of the triple crown. Gallant Man, owned by Ralph Lowe, and the Kerr stable's Round Table, who ran third in the derby, both skipped the Preakness.

Handicap Hero
Dedicate was the handicap hero, winning the Campbell memorial and Monmouth handicap, but was disqualified from a third $100,000 race, the Atlantic City handicap. Gallant Man won the Travers.

This led up to the Woodward at Belmont, and the only big colt missing was Round Table. Dedicate, Gallant Man and Bold Ruler ran 1-2-3.

Dedicate, owned by Mrs. Jan information in bringing the suit for personal injuries allegedly suffered at a night baseball game Aug. 24, 1954.

The FBI said that in bringing the suit Dombrowski used a false name and posed as his own physician. Agents said he submitted medical reports to the suit.

The suit claimed a foul ball struck Dombrowski in the face, Dombrowski, 44, who was breaking his jaw, nose and named in an indictment returned Dec. 23 by a federal grand jury in Milwaukee. The indictment charged he supplied false spot in the grandstands.

Burke, was forced to miss the Trenton Handicap at Garden State park because of an injury. But Bold Ruler, trained by "Sunny" Jim Fitzsimmons and ridden by Eddie Arcaro, beat Gallant Man and Round Table in one of the year's decisive races.

Top Money-Winner
Round Table led in money won with $583,703. Bold Ruler was next with $415,160.

Bill Hartack led the jockey for the third year in a row. He won a record 43 stakes races. His mounts won more than three million dollars. He broke his 1956 record of $2,343,955.

In harness racing, L. B. Sheppard and A. C. Mudge's Hickory Smoke won the Hambletonian, raced at DuQuoin, Ill. The Sherwood Farm's Torpid took the Little Brown Jug at Delaware, Ohio. The year also saw the opening of the $20,000,000 dream track, Roosevelt raceway, on Long Island, where all records for a trotting track were broken.

Don't Rush Approach, Joe Advises

BY JOE WILMAN

Today, let's address the women bowlers again. The girls have some fairly common bowling faults that they should check and guard against.

First, too many rush their approach. It may be nervousness or shyness. I don't know. Maybe they think it'll give them greater speed. It won't. It will only ruin their timing, a bowler's greatest asset.

Second, many women don't bend the left knee in releasing the ball. They are stiff throughout their approach, but they become almost petrified while releasing the ball. We show a fine delivery form in today's drawing.

Third, some women don't have the proper backswing or follow-through. Note the hand grade school gym here Thursday night. The game is slated for 7:30 and Coach Paul Van Dyke's squad will rule as a favorite in the contest.

Starters for the Kimberly team will include Rene Kerkhof and Al Hammen, the two top scorers. Other probable starters are Tom Gossens, Dick Weyenberg and Frass Frassetto.

Will Consider Reserving Part Of Wolf River for Fly Anglers

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

Madison — Should a part of the historic Wolf river, favorite stream of many Wisconsin trout fishermen, be reserved for the exclusive use of fly fishermen?

The issue will be submitted to the court of public opinion, as represented in a hearing to be held by the state conservation department on Jan. 22.

Experimental Plan
The department will hear sentiments of the public on the proposition at the Langlade county courthouse at Amigo. Before the meeting will be the proposal to reserve a 4-mile portion of the Wolf river, immediately below the community of Hollister, for the exclusive use of the devotees of flies. Bait fishermen will be forbidden to use that stretch of the stream.

The reservation plan would be experimental, and similar to a similar rule for fly fishing only on a section of the Peshigo river in Marinette county established several years ago.

It results from the conviction of some leaders of outdoors sports groups, and shared by some state officials, that state sport fishing regulations in the future must tend to emphasize fishing "for sport rather than the pan."

Similar restrictions for musky fishermen, emphasizing artificial rather than live bait, are also under study although specific reservations have not yet been advanced.

The AHS basketball team, which had finished second in the 1956 state tournament to highlight the area sports year, produced a great stretch run to a nine conference laurels. Leading league-leading Sheboygan North by two games with five to play, the Terrors on four of their last five contests.

The high-scoring Ullwelling of the time he lost in going to the 1956 Olympics. Morrow, father of 3-week-old twins—Ron Floyd and Vicki Jo—equalled the Olympic record for 100 meters by winning in 16.3 seconds. He set a record of 20.6 seconds in the 200 meters and ran another leg on the 400-meter relay team that made an and then deposited West as FRVC champion.

Triple Captaincies
Schulze and Lawrence's all-time great Dick Rine each are honored with triple captaincies during the year. Rine provided many of the light moments on the Viking athletic scene. The former Menasha High luminary scored 3 points to break the Vike 1-0, ason ba s k e t b a l l scoring ark. Dick, who had made the 1-Midwest conference first am in football gained the all-time second year in basketball.

Later in the year he won the conference tennis singles title which he also captured as sophomore. He captained the Lawrence net team which, for a second straight school year as the only one of eight Vike major or minor sports teams to win a conference championship.

Harriers Shine
In the fall of the year, however, the Lawrence cross-country team romped easily through dual meet schedule and then crushed the field in the conference meet, winning five of the ten places. Sophomore Tad Johnston raced home first as the Vikes' winning score tied to best mark in league history. Late in the 1956-57 basketball season John Krause resigned. Lawrence basketball coach after his teams had achieved two victories in 22 starts in 11 seasons at the helm. The Viking cagers finished the 1956-57 season, under his direction, with a 0-20 mark. Former Lawrence sports great Don Boya took over for the 1957-58 season. The Viking loss skein had ended 26 straight by the beginning of 1958.

Other Achievements
There were noteworthy achievements in other sports during 1957. A number of national honor bowling scores are racked up in Appleton including three honor counts by: "Bud" Gracich (700) and the Filled (725) and women's team titles by Shirley Kelly (6) and Shirley "Butch" Helms (641).

In Brillion, Francis Waldeck crashed a 127 while Sherwood was a 623 by Janet Runge. Baseball no-hitters were pitched by Lloyd "Bud" Gracich of the Menasha Macs. Against Harrison, Scandiana's Mary Jacobson, against Creek, and Varava's Roman, over Big Falls. The Macs won their fourth Fox River league title in five years.

John Stoffel of Hortonville and Jim Meyer of Big Falls pitched 18 innings as Horville capped a 2-0 Wolf River league league Southern division championship.

The state women's golf tournament was held at Appleton. The state men's and women's Mary Kumb Williams defeated Milwaukee's Sally Appenberger in the finals by a 10 and 9 score. Smooth-stroking veteran Sylver repeated as Appleton city champion with a similarly 5 and 7 triumph over faithful John DeYoung. Bayer won the first Adler Braun tournament.

Butte des Morts' nifty Don Ullwelling repeated as champion in Fox Cities open with a 149 in besting a record field of entrants. Ridgeway's Charles, Steingraber was one stroke back, in second. Appleton's 23-year-old Ray "Pike" Peterson bested many of the state's "name" golfers in winning the George Calderwood Invitational open at South Hills, Fond du Lac.

Other Fronts
A number of Fox Cities earned renown on other sports fronts during the year. Menasha St. Mary alumnus Ron Dibelius had a sensational 29-point debut on the Marquette university basketball varsity and, as 1957 closed, was the leading Warrior scorer. Another Menasha, Jim Kersten, was a teammate, while a third, Clem Massey—who starred in several games early in 1957—dropped from the team as the year drew to a close.

Neenah's Tom Wiesner, was elected co-captain of the University of Wisconsin freshman of the time he lost in going to the 1956 Olympics. Morrow, father of 3-week-old twins—Ron Floyd and Vicki Jo—equalled the Olympic record for 100 meters by winning in 16.3 seconds. He set a record of 20.6 seconds in the 200 meters and ran another leg on the 400-meter relay team that made an and then deposited West as FRVC champion.

Triple Captaincies
Schulze and Lawrence's all-time great Dick Rine each are honored with triple captaincies during the year. Rine provided many of the light moments on the Viking athletic scene. The former Menasha High luminary scored 3 points to break the Vike 1-0, ason ba s k e t b a l l scoring ark. Dick, who had made the 1-Midwest conference first am in football gained the all-time second year in basketball.

Later in the year he won the conference tennis singles title which he also captured as sophomore. He captained the Lawrence net team which, for a second straight school year as the only one of eight Vike major or minor sports teams to win a conference championship.

Harriers Shine
In the fall of the year, however, the Lawrence cross-country team romped easily through dual meet schedule and then crushed the field in the conference meet, winning five of the ten places. Sophomore Tad Johnston raced home first as the Vikes' winning score tied to best mark in league history. Late in the 1956-57 basketball season John Krause resigned. Lawrence basketball coach after his teams had achieved two victories in 22 starts in 11 seasons at the helm. The Viking cagers finished the 1956-57 season, under his direction, with a 0-20 mark. Former Lawrence sports great Don Boya took over for the 1957-58 season. The Viking loss skein had ended 26 straight by the beginning of 1958.

Other Achievements
There were noteworthy achievements in other sports during 1957. A number of national honor bowling scores are racked up in Appleton including three honor counts by: "Bud" Gracich (700) and the Filled (725) and women's team titles by Shirley Kelly (6) and Shirley "Butch" Helms (641).

In Brillion, Francis Waldeck crashed a 127 while Sherwood was a 623 by Janet Runge. Baseball no-hitters were pitched by Lloyd "Bud" Gracich of the Menasha Macs. Against Harrison, Scandiana's Mary Jacobson, against Creek, and Varava's Roman, over Big Falls. The Macs won their fourth Fox River league title in five years.

John Stoffel of Hortonville and Jim Meyer of Big Falls pitched 18 innings as Horville capped a 2-0 Wolf River league league Southern division championship.

The state women's golf tournament was held at Appleton. The state men's and women's Mary Kumb Williams defeated Milwaukee's Sally Appenberger in the finals by a 10 and 9 score. Butte des Morts' nifty Don Ullwelling repeated as champion in Fox Cities open with a 149 in besting a record field of entrants. Ridgeway's Charles, football team. Kimberly's Jerry and Don VanderVelden were promising teammates of Wiesner's.

Cotton Triumphs
Appleton's speedy Austin Cotton, a University of Wisconsin sophomore, speared the Badgers' lone first place in the Big Ten conference indoor track meet, winning the half mile.

Menasha's Darold Eggert, after being picked to represent the first Appleton Post-Crescent-sponsored Silver Sluggers school in the state Silver Sluggers game in Milwaukee, was chosen to attend the Milwaukee Braves farms clubs' 1958 spring training camp.

Winsor Wins
Among other leading individuals was Lawrence's John Winsor who won the shot in the unofficial Midwest conference indoor track meet and later in the year, placed first in the discus event in the outdoor meet.

Hilbert High school's Leander Wolf scored 50 points against Wrightstown for a Little Nine conference 1-game basketball scoring record.

For the second straight year, a Wauwatosa rink won the Appleton Curling club's invitational bonspiel. The Harold "Red" Mather rink was the "spiel" victor.

New London's Mosquito hill unveiled new downhill slopes and a tow in early '57 and was renamed Mo-Ski-Tow hill.

High Safety Rate Set In 1947 Air Travel
Washington—Although 67 persons were killed in scheduled airline accidents in 1957, the civil aeronautics board says the industry ended the year "with a safety rate practically unparalleled in modern transportation history."

The fatality rate was 0.2 per 100 million passenger miles flown, the board said, compared with 0.5 in 1956, which recorded 143 deaths. By comparison, the board said, highway travel had a fatality rate estimated at nearly six per 100 million miles. A passenger mile is one person traveling one mile.

Ring-Around-Rosy Tale Of Lost Wedding Band
Santa Monica, Calif.—A mussel, a newspaper story and a small, curious boy combined to reunite a man and his wedding ring.

The story of how he got his ring back was told in the Douglas Aircraft company employee magazine by A. C. Tracy, a supervisor.

Tracy lost the ring in the summer of 1955 while swimming in the surf. Recently Robi Rinn, 7, was poking around the beach and forced open a mussel shell. Inside he found a gold wedding band. A story of the find appeared in the Santa Monica Evening Outlook.

Tracy's attention was called to the story and he went to the Rini home. Sure enough, it was his ring, complete with pattern and inscription. But now he has two identical rings. After he lost the first he had another one made just like it.

New Year Resolutions

Wives Can Safeguard Health of Husbands

Wisconsin housewives can play an important role in safeguarding the health and hearts of their husbands in the year ahead.

C. Ellis Goldstein, president of the Wisconsin Heart association today pointed out that the family breadwinner is more vulnerable to heart disease and suggested that Wisconsin homemakers follow these seven New Year's resolutions to help their husbands to a happy and healthy 1958:

"I will resolve that in 1958, I will set a good example by applying all those rules to myself, maintaining the good health and good spirits that are so vital in my job as wife and mother."

Goldstein stressed that by following these resolutions, housewives have an opportunity to keep the hearts they love healthier and happier.

Triff Accidents Kill 35,000 Persons In 11 Months of '57

Chicago—The nation's traffic accidents killed nearly 35,000 persons in the first 11 months this year, about 2 percent lower than the 1956 toll for the comparable period.

The National Safety Council, which reported 34,880 deaths up to Dec. 1 compared to 35,770 for the same period in 1956, termed the traffic accident picture as "definitely encouraging."

The low mileage death rate reflects improved behavior by the man behind the wheel and increased effort by traffic enforcement agencies and public officials," the council said.

The mileage death rate—deaths per 100 million vehicle miles—was 0.2 in 1957, the lowest on record for a comparable period, 5.7 against 6.1 for the first 11 months last year.

November's traffic toll was 3,330, 2 percent under the 3,603 for November last year.

Relocation Of Prisoners In State Seen

Site Approval Paves Way for Distribution According to Status

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
Madison—A glimpse of eventual relocation of the state's adult male penal population was provided by State Welfare Director Wilbur Schmidt.

Schmidt won approval from the state building commission for a Dodge county site for the planned new medium security prison.

The site is about 10 miles west of the present Waupun prison, on a farm now owned by that prison.

The medium security prison, which will accommodate about 600 men, will have security arrangements somewhat less severe than those at the state prison at Waupun and the state reformatory at Green Bay.

Ultimately, Schmidt said, the ideal arrangement for housing state prisoners would be an approximately equal distribution among maximum security, medium security and minimum security installations.

Forest Camps, Farms
The minimum security facilities would be forest camps and farms, like those successfully operated by the reformatory and penitentiary.

The site approval means that the last hurdle has been passed for constructing the new institution that has been under discussion for more than a decade. Aside from the ideal of redistributing prisoners according to their risk status, new space must be provided for an increasing total population of prisoners that has followed the gradually increasing population of the state as a whole.

Plans for the new prison are being prepared and construction is expected to begin in about a year.

Weather Data Gleaned From Rocket Firings

Ft. Monmouth, N. J.—Winds of 300 miles an hour and temperatures 100 degrees below zero Fahrenheit are common at an altitude of 60 miles, the army says.

The army signal engineering laboratories here says this has been determined from preliminary examination of data gleaned from rocket firings at Ft. Churchill, Manitoba, Canada, this last summer.

Aerobee rockets loaded with 19 high explosive grenades each were used in a series of five firings to explore high altitude weather as part of the International Geophysical Year, the army said yesterday.

The grenades were ejected from the nose cones at pre-set intervals up to 60 miles. The explosions were picked up by delicate sound devices on the ground.

The army explained that the time it took for the sound of each blast to reach the ground gave an accurate indication of winds and temperatures.

Trinidad Taxes Go Up for Automobiles Cigarettes, Whiskey

Port of Spain, Trinidad—Higher taxes on automobiles, cigarettes and whiskey were included in the 1958 budget for Trinidad presented Monday night by the chief minister of this British colony, Dr. Eric Williams.

The leader of the people's national movement, which holds 13 of the 24 seats in the 1-house legislature, outlined his budget in a 12-hour speech. The audience cheered at the end and opposition legislators shouted "Shame."

The budget is expected to be passed without substantial change. Effective immediately, it raised the purchase tax 10 percent on cars weighing under 3,000 pounds and 15 percent on bigger cars. Local cigarettes will cost the equivalent of 2-1/2 cents, a yearbook editor, said yesterday more, a rum, 27 cents and local beer about half a cent.

1919 Letter to Navy Proves Forward Look

Fort Worth, Texas—V. Strygley is a man who usually looks ahead. And he's got a letter to prove it.

But right now he's looking back to 1919 and says he wishes the navy had paid a little more attention to him then.

June 7, 1919, Strygley was a resident of Sheffield, Ala. He wrote the navy a letter offering to explore space. It said in part:

"Give me the machine I want and all the equipment that I would find, by exploration of the air, that I need, and I will show the world another stunt that Americans can do."

Letter Filed
The head of the navy's aviation division answered June 12, 1919: "Your letter of June 7... will be filed for further consideration. Thanking you very much for your interest."

Strygley, 71, who now operates a laundry here, dropped the matter for a time. Then, eight months ago, space stories were popping up in the news again and he wrote the navy asking about his letter. It took a while, but the navy filing system prevailed and it sent him copies of his letter and the answer.

Strygley says he's not taking an "I told you so" attitude, but thinks it's nice to be able to prove he was a little ahead of the Russians.

High School Boys Look on to College

Nearly a Third of Senior Class Want to Further Their Education; Many Farm Sons Pick Father's Job

A large number of senior boys in Wisconsin high schools plan to go on to college, according to a recent survey made by George Sledge, University of Wisconsin agricultural education researcher.

After collecting information from 765 boys in 31 high schools in five counties of the state, Sledge found that almost 30 per cent planned to go on to college. About one-fourth planned to work in town or move to a larger city and find a job. Another one-fourth planned to enter the armed forces soon after graduation.

Of these 765 boys, 326 lived on farms. Of these about 17 per cent indicated they'd like farming as an occupation at the completion of their high school education. A total of 27 per cent would like to be farming within 10 years after high school graduation.

Those who wanted to go to college make up the largest group selecting any one plan, Sledge points out.

His analysis shows that most of the boys who want to continue their education would attend colleges in Wisconsin. The university and the state colleges were the most popular.

About one-third plan to return to their home communities after their further education.

Sledge found a need for more extensive vocational counseling at the high school level. One-fourth of the boys said nobody had influenced or encouraged them on their plans after graduation.

Almost half the boys had been encouraged to attend college by parents. Friends and relatives were reported as the main source of advice by the others, Sledge found.

The County Agent Answers

What is the recommended care for the Christmas poinsettia?

Check the soil surface twice a day. If it feels dry, apply water until the excess drains out of the drain-hole in the bottom of the container. Be sure the drain-hole is functioning properly. If the blossoms wither, remove them from the plant. Locate the plant in a sunny location where the temperature is between 70 degrees and 75 degrees. Be sure to keep them away from heat outlets and drafty locations.

What is the reason for sudden drops in egg quality at this time of year?

The major difficulty is due to the basement being kept warmer during the winter time. As the furnace began to operate, the room temperature went up and the humidity dropped. It is a good idea to keep a pan of water in the area of the egg storage and to keep the temperature at about 50 degrees to 60 degrees. The proper level of humidity is 70 per cent.

Where can help be obtained for forest and woodlot management?

Contact Alex Katovich, district forester with the Wisconsin conservation department at 341 W. College avenue, Appleton. This assistance is furnished free to those landowners who wish to do a good job of woodlot protection, management and development. The forester can aid in selecting those trees which should be removed to make the forest area more productive. Trees are available through the Wisconsin conservation department for a very small service fee.

How can colored candle wax be removed from table linens?

Scrape away as much wax as possible with a dull knife then place the stain between clean white blotters or paper towels and press with a warm iron, changing the towels as they become soiled. Then, sponge with carbon tetrachloride or other grease solvent. If a color stain remains, sponge with liquid made up of one cup denatured alcohol and two cups of water.

Easter Hams on the Hoof Keep William R. Meyer, route 1, Fremont, busy as he raises some 130 hogs. He has been in the hog business for some five years and has discovered that a gentle sow is less likely to lose her shoats than a fierce one. To bolster this quality in his herd, Meyer has practiced selective breeding. In the lower picture, a Chester White rubs up against Meyer as a dog would to prove just how gentle she is. ## Rural Fremont Farmer Finds Gentle Sows Have Less Shoat Mortality

Easy Handling Being Bred Into Hogs Through Selective Breeding on W. R. Meyer Pig Farm

Selective hog breeding at the William R. Meyer farm on route 1, Fremont is aimed at gentleness and success is evident in the dog-like trust and affection shown to humans by Meyer's sows.

Meyer, who has raised hogs for the last five years, has discovered that the piglet mortality is considerably lower when the sow is of a gentle nature.

One of the major benefits derived from breeding gentleness into the hog is the ease with which a man can handle great numbers of squealers. At present he is feeding some 130.

When culling his herd he keeps 10 brood sows and they are the gentlest of the lot.

At one time on the farm he will be feeding fat hogs, gilts, and feeder pigs. This abundance of good hunting in takes about 1,000 pounds of

Canadian Clover Shows Promise in Wisconsin

A new "Canadian-born" red clover variety shows promise for Wisconsin, University of Wisconsin agronomists report. The new variety is called, Dollard and was developed at MacDonald college in eastern Canada. About 500,000 pounds of Dollard seed are available for next year. Seed production is expected to increase greatly after that.

Trials at branch agricultural experiment stations around Wisconsin and at the university in Madison show Dollard is a higher yielding than Wisconsin Common red clover. Agronomists add this is especially true if a disease called northern anthracnose is present.

Dollard yields particularly well in the northern two-thirds of the state. The variety shows good winter survival and persists into the third year more than other varieties.

The new variety flowers about a week later than Wisconsin Common. Agronomists say this means farmers can stagger clover hay harvest and produce higher quality hay.

ground feed and 300 pounds of shelled corn and plenty of water a day.

Aside from looking for gentleness in his sows, Meyer does not seem to bother too much with considerations of breed. He crosses all of the standard breeds, Hampshires, Chester Whites and Yorkshires.

His sows farrow twice a year with average litters of nine pigs each.

His pig house is a converted chicken coop lined with straw for insulation. This arrangement makes the cat an important feature on his pig farm.

He has not found it necessary to practice selective breeding with these animals. He allows them a little milk each day and they stay healthy with the abundance of good hunting in the straw insulation.

Farm Woodlots Feel Housing Boom Drop

Lower Quality Timber Affected First
In Fall of Prices Over Last 6 Months

The drop in residential home construction has affected the price that Wisconsin farmers can get for timber products from their farm woodlots, reports Ted Peterson, University of Wisconsin forester. Peterson says the price drop of the last six months is affecting lower quality timber most. A price survey just completed shows that high quality timber continues to command a good steady price. He points out that many farmers look to the farm woods for extra income when snow is in the air.

Better Cottage Cheese Depends on Thick Cream

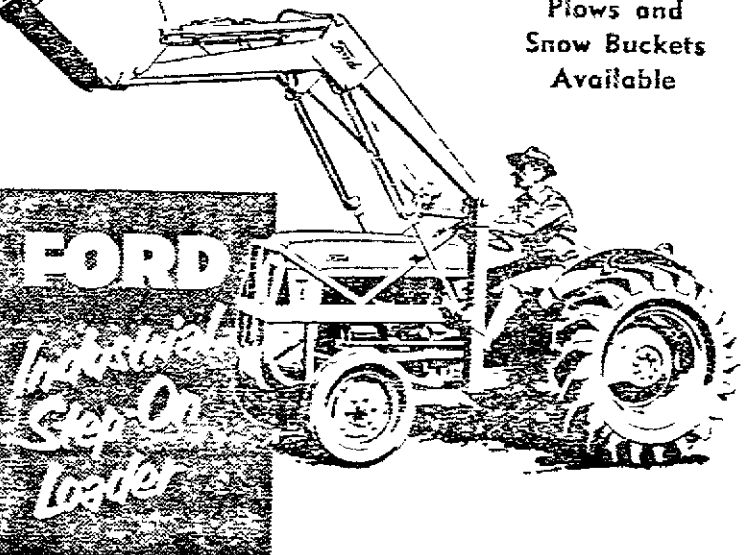

UW Tests Indicate Slight Changes In Methods Can Improve Product

A slight change in dairy plant procedures can improve the quality of cottage cheese—generally with no added costs of production. University of Wisconsin researchers D. B. Emmons and W. V. Price have studied several ways to make cream cling to the curd better. The easiest method is to increase homogenization pressure for the cream. This makes a thicker cream. Most plants can boost curd has been made from skim-milk they explain. In most cases with no change in equipment of the country, comment. Another way is to use cream which hangs on to the cream—about 15 per cent to 18 per cent as compared to the 12 per cent normally used. Costs are about the same because less high-fat cream is needed. It is also possible to add stabilizers to cream to increase its thickness. But use of these materials is not legal in many states, the researchers point out. The other methods will do the job easily and just as well, they add.

Black-Eyed Pea Fans Open Organization
Taylor, Texas — The National Black-Eyed Pea association of America, Inc. plans to start off 1958 by throwing open its membership to anyone in the world.

The primary prerequisite, said acting president Elmore R. Torn is that the proposed member "declare in writing" his friendship for the black-eyed pea. The organization is devoted to furthering the tradition of eating black-eyed peas on New Year's day.

Termite Entry Into State Up At Conference

First Indications Of Northern Raids Noted in Sheboygan

A newly discovered and potentially serious insect problem for Wisconsin will be discussed at the annual Insect Control conference here Jan. 8 and 9. Termites have been discovered in Sheboygan and possibly in other Wisconsin cities. Previously the termites were not thought to be adapted to cold climates this far north. City officials from Sheboygan will appear on a panel January 8 to discuss their termite problem and plans to control it. The panel is part of a new session on urban insect problems during the insect control conference.

Others will discuss the lake fly problem for industry and city; urban mosquito control; and Dutch Elm disease control. The meeting is conducted by the University of Wisconsin entomology department.

Mosquito control programs in Poyntette, LaCrosse and Madison will be described. Ralph Heal, executive secretary of the National Pest Control association from Elizabeth, N. J., will moderate the panel on termite control. Milwaukee officials, university entomologists and state department of agriculture personnel will discuss Dutch Elm control.

Jan. 9 the conference will feature major disease and insect problems in Wisconsin agriculture.

Brillion Boy Wins in Crop Competition

Brillion — Gerald Schwahn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Schwahn, route 1, Reedsville, was this year's winner in the Calumet-Dutch Packing company Junior Canning Crops contest.

Gerald's project was raising of six acres of peas for the purpose of canning for the Brillion plant of the Calumet-Dutch Packing company. The six acres of peas produced an average of 4,421 pounds of peas per acre for a gross return of $150 per acre. The high yield accompanied by a good report on his project earned him the prize.

Entry in the company's contest automatically entered Gerald's project in the National Junior Canning Crops contest sponsored by the N.J.V.G.A., which is supported in Wisconsin by the Wisconsin Canners association.

There were 31 entries in the state contest this year. Gerald won fifth place in the state contest which entitles him to enter the project in the Midwest Regional contest of the N.J.V.G.A.

Dairy Products, Chickens Listed As Plentiful

Washington — The agricultural department lists chickens and dairy products as among foods likely to be in most abundant supply during January.

Because of the supply situation, these foods should be good buys for the budget-minded family buyer, the department says. Other foods on the agency's plentiful foods list for January include apples from the big fall crop, dried prunes, potatoes, dates, almonds and filberts, canned and frozen peas and citrus fruits.

Ford's Long-Awaited 4-Door Thunderbird doubles the seating capacity of the former 2-door model and has one and a half times the luggage capacity. Yet it is only two feet longer and four inches wider. Ease of entry for all riders is obtained by fold-flat front seats and one of the widest door openings in the industry. The new luxury car, which has the greatest interior space per passenger of any U. S. luxury car, will be on display at Ford dealerships later this month.

Diversion Terrace, Answer To Acres That Stay Too Wet

Are your level fields wet? Are they too low to get good drainage on them? Or are they still too wet after surface drainage has been applied? Then perhaps a diversion terrace is the answer to your problem," says Jim Woller, of the U. S. Soil Conservation Service. "Once this water gets to the lower land it may be impractical or impossible to get it off," Woller says "but it is very possible that this same water can be prevented from getting on the lowlands by using a diversion." Then the only water to be reckoned with in the low-land is that which falls on it as rain or snow. The diversion terrace is constructed somewhere on the slope above the lowlands. It is a trough laid out on the slope so that water it gathers the water coming down the slope as runoff. The diversion is put on a grade along the slope so that the water it collects is taken around the lowland. Woller commented, "The diversion acts just like an eaves trough on a roof. The eaves trough catches the water coming off to keep the area around the footing of the building free of surplus water." The water that the diversion collects is then discharged into a constructed outlet to carry the excess water safely around and away from the lowlands. A grassed waterway is considered the best outlet for a diversion.

For more information concerning the use of diversion terraces and on the spot assistance in construction, contact the local Soil Conservation Service office in Appleton.

USDA Reports Record Milk Production

Huge Volume Fails To Disturb Slight Increase in Price

Washington — The agriculture department says prices to farmers for milk are up a little this year even though milk production for 1957 is expected to reach the record total of 127 billion pounds. Prices to farmers are expected to remain at present levels, except for seasonal variations, until next April 1. The support level for the marketing year to start April 1 will be announced by Secretary Benson before that date. Retail prices for each manufactured dairy item, as well as for fluid milk have been above levels of a year earlier. The actual number of milk cows on farms in 1957 has continued below a year earlier. But with new record highs being set more than half a foot and an inch in output per cow, total milk production is at a record level. The 127 billion pound output predicted for 1957 compares with 125,700,000,000 pounds in 1956. The department said that with favorable milk-feed price relationships and record support prices of feed concentrates and controls for the heater, air convey, milk production in 1958 ditioner, power windows a rationally will continue at record oil speaker, and ash trays for front and rear passengers.

Ford Reveals '58 Thunderbird

4-Door Model Features Low Lines, Wide Door Openings

Ford ushered in the New Year last midnight by unveiling an automobile which may well change the American concept of luxury motoring. It was the 4-passenger Thunderbird which Ford revealed during a New Year's eve party in Palm Springs, Calif.

The completely new automobile to be introduced in Ford dealerships later this month is a stylist's dream car combining the dash of the personalized Thunderbird with the interior spaciousness of a luxury car.

Another first for Ford the new car retains Thunderbird classic lines. Unitized frame construction made possible maximum interior passenger room and comfort without pretentious exterior bulkiness.

Although the new car has twice the passenger-carrying capacity, it is only 24 inches longer and four inches wider.

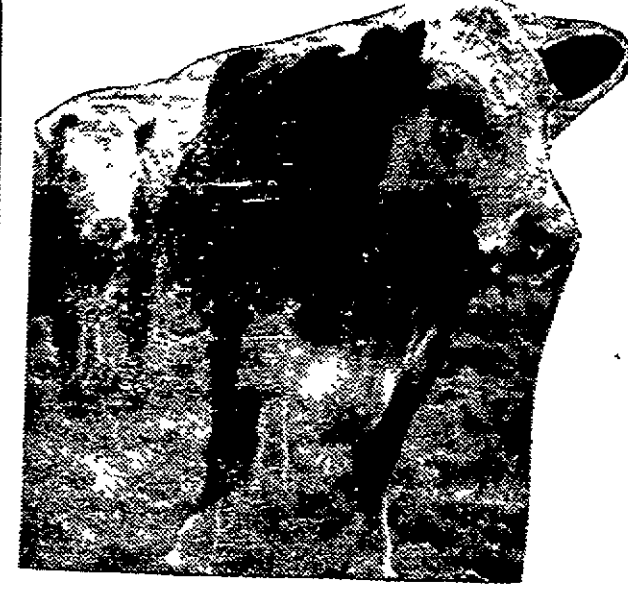

The Thunderbird is four inches lower than the average for all U. S. luxury cars, but has more room per passenger than any luxury car. Its front and rear head room is within a fraction of an inch of America's other prestige automobiles.

Wide Door Opening The new car has one of the widest door openings (48 7/8 inches) of any U. S. automobile and has new type front seat backs that fold flat out of the way for ease of entry to the rear seat.

It is powered with a new 300 hp engine of the most modern design including a 4-barrel carburetor, fully-machined combustion chambers and free-flow induction.

The 1958 Thunderbird is an outgrowth of public opinion polls on the successful 2-passenger Thunderbird. One of the main findings—and challenges—was to change the Thunderbird into a 4-passenger model with easy entrance and exit but without destroying the fun-to-drive features and performance of the 2-passenger model.

Stylists widened the doors by more than half a foot and an inch in output per cow. The two front seats are individual and can be adjusted separately. Both seat cushions with 125,700,000,000 pounds in 1956. The department said that with favorable milk-feed price relationships and record support prices of feed concentrates and controls for the heater, air convey, milk production in 1958 ditioner, power windows a rationally will continue at record oil speaker, and ash trays for front and rear passengers.

Doctor Predicts Many Changes in Medicine

AMA Trustee Sees New Type of General Practitioner Emerging Within 30 Years

Chicago — Prognostication is in the air with the beginning of the new year.

And from his vantage point as a trustee of the American Medical Association, Dr. Julian P. Price sees a new type of general practitioner emerging within the next 30 years.

Dr. Price, 56, a practicing pediatrician in Florence, S.C., said the next 30 years will show as many scientific achievements and changes in the way medicine is practiced as the American people and physicians have experienced in the last 30 years.

Writing in the forthcoming issue of the Journal of the American Medical Association, Dr. Price said:

"Medical practice will change. The trend toward specialization will continue, with an increase in group practices in clinics. These clinics will be staffed and equipped to furnish complete care for the ambulatory patient, and a large segment of the population will patronize their services."

New General Practitioner

"There will still be those, however, who want individual physicians for themselves and their families, and for these a new type of general practitioner will emerge to take the place of the present general practitioner."

"His work will consist of internal medicine, pediatrics and psychiatry, with office procedures in orthopedics, gynecology, and surgery."

Following the shift of population, many physicians will move to the suburbs, where they will be able to serve their patients more effectively, Dr. Price said.

Meany Charged With Misleading Public on Profits

New York — AFL-CIO President George Meany deliberately tried to mislead public opinion concerning profits of corporations, says Charles R. Sligh Jr., executive vice president of the National Association of Manufacturers.

Sligh charged Meany yesterday with attempting to set the stage for "another round of wage boosts leading to more wage-price inflation."

Sligh was commenting on a letter sent by Meany Saturday to Commerce Sec. Sinclair Weeks. Meany said corporate profits were understated by three to four billion dollars.

Meany's letter contended commerce department reports created a false impression of corporate profits. He cited provisions of the revenue law that permit corporations to write off depreciation of facilities in a lesser period than the facilities' normal life.

"In actual fact," Sligh said, "the profits of corporations are seriously overstated and excessive taxes are paid because of the general regulations governing depreciation under which industry operates."

The NAM official said profits were overstated four to six billion dollars in recent years. Relatively few companies, he said, have used the government's "fast depreciation" policy.

Francis Ankerson, Appleton, is class instructor.

John Barrymore, Jr., Gets Jail Sentence

Beverly Hills, Calif. — John Barrymore, Jr., and his red-haired actress wife have ended a brief separation, but they're going to be parted again for the next three weekends.

The son of the great profile will spend them in the Beverly Hills jail.

Word of the reconciliation got around yesterday about the same time as a report that young Barrymore had been arrested for intoxication. Officers Douglas, Elias and Carmen Gilberto said the 25-year-old actor and his wife, Cara Williams, were engaged in a heated argument in a parked car.

Friends said the couple was just celebrating the reconciliation.

Barrymore was fined $100 and sentenced to 90 days in jail for disturbing the peace and being drunk in a public place. The jail term was suspended on condition he spend three weekends in jail.

World's Second Largest Building Sold to Group

New York — The 71-story Chrysler building — world's second tallest — and two other structures have been sold in the city's largest real estate transaction.

Sold with the Chrysler building were its 32-story annex and the 30-story Graybar building across Lexington avenue from the others.

No price was disclosed. In previous negotiations, which failed, $66 million had been asked for the properties.

A group of investors operating under the name of Prentice Development corporation of New York bought the buildings yesterday from Webb and Knapp, which is headed by real estate operator William Zeckendorf. Under terms of the sale, Webb and Knapp will continue to operate the buildings.

The Chrysler building, second in height only to the Empire State building, was built in 1929. Its annex was erected in 1929. The Graybar building was built in 1927.

FCC Handed First Plea To Operate Pay-See TV

BY JINGO
The federal communications commission has received its first official request for permission to operate pay-see television.

That news, which by itself would be a minor event, is made more significant by the fact that the commission is the first to receive such a request.

The applicant, Philadelphia Broadcasting company, Inc., told the FCC it plans to conduct subscription television on a new ultra-high frequency station for which it has a construction permit.

Under the Philadelphia plan, residents willing to pay a $30 annual fee for commercial-free telecasts of sports events and $1 for special shows will be served. Commercial establishments, like taverns, would pay $100 for the run of sports events and $5 for each special attraction.

The program fare would include current movies, operas and symphonies besides major sports events. By sports events, they mean the entire seasons of a big league baseball club, a pro football team, a pro basketball team and five local doubleheader college basketball games.

Company officials say they will use the Skiatron system. Under that system, non-subscribers receive the same program on their sets but need a card "key" to unscramble the sound and video. The card "key" also serves to determine the amount of the bill. Bills are paid quarterly.

The FCC has declared it is not committing itself on whether it has the power to authorize pay-TV permanently, but has said it will hold hearings on the subject after all toll-TV tests now underway are completed.

Chairman Harris, of the house commerce committee, plans to hold hearings on pay-TV early this month and other congressional committees are ogling the subject for a possible probe.

Think of the package that could be offered Fox Cities residents if the Philadelphia deal was superimposed on the state: All Braves games, all Packer games and maybe as many Marquette and Wisconsin basketball games as schedule conflicts would permit.

Worth $30 a year? Without commercials?

Joanne Woodward and Andy Griffith, two screen newcomers, have been cited for the best acting of 1957 in the annual poll conducted by The Film Daily, trade journal. Miss Woodward was chosen for her performance in "Three Faces of Eve"; Griffith for "A Face in the Crowd."

The films marked the first screen appearance for each. Both have appeared in stage plays.

Jingo's Jewels: "People in New York who have read the script say you'll recognize the principals easily in 'The Battle for Wednesday Night' on NBC-TV's 'Theater' tonight."

Ward Bond of "Wagon Train" appears as Steve Allen's guest Sunday night on TV.

Ciro's in Hollywood Closes Its Doors

Hollywood — The one of the favorite after-dark hangouts of the Hollywood set, has hit the financial skids and closed, a spokesman of bankruptcy administrator James Smith reports.

"It just couldn't operate any longer because of a lack of capital," the spokesman said yesterday. "Business has been bad."

H. D. Hover, who has operated the Sunset strip niterie since 1942, threatened last fall to close down because of the high prices he had to pay for name acts.

Smith's office said the nightclub's assets will have to be liquidated to pay debtors.

Jean Seberg, 19-year-old Iowa schoolgirl who flopped in her first movie, "St. Joan," will be Mike Wallace's guest Saturday night on ABC-TV. She's in a new film, "Bonjour Tristesse," whose producer, Otto Preminger, appeared on Sunday's "Seven Lively Arts."

A 90-minute report on "Where We Stand" in the balance of power with Russia will be seen at 4:30 Sunday afternoon on CBS-TV. They say it'll be the best CBS-TV news story yet attempted.
